Chou Asks Renewal of Peace Talks With U. S.

Communists May Be Preparing for UN Dramatic Step Could be Trying to Put U. S. On Spot on Formosa Issue

BY MILTON BESSER

United Nations, N.Y.—Are the Chinese communists building up for some dramatic move in the United Nations with the hope of putting the United States on the spot in the Formosa situation? U.N. diplomats were asking that question today as they kept close watch on the deepening Far East crisis set off by red China's blasting of the Chinese nationalist offshore island of Quemoy.

The United States has never opposed U.N. debate on Formosa. It proposed Formosa as a subject for discussion in the general assembly in 1950. It has defended vigorously its role in Formosa in the past and can be expected to do so in the future.

Earlier Efforts Fail
Diplomats here say that if United States and communist China start shooting at each other in the Formosa area, the issue will be brought quickly into the U.N. But they say they have no knowledge of any move to bring up Formosa at this stage, either in a security council meeting or when the assembly meets Sept. 16.

Previous U.N. efforts to work out a cease-fire in the Formosa area have failed. Diplomatic sources said they know of no plans to resume such efforts now, or to propose any new solutions, such as sending a U.N. force into the area.

Some diplomats were speculating that communist China's declaration of a 12-mile sea limit might be a preliminary move to firing a complaint to the U.N. charging the United States with aggression. If United States vessels cross the 12-mile limit by escorting nationalist Chinese convoys to Quemoy, the Chinese reds might take such action.

Although not a U.N. member, red China complained to the U.N. in 1950, during the Korean war. With the support of the Soviet Union the Chinese reds submitted a resolution to the security council charging aggression against Formosa by the dispatch of the Seventh fleet to the area and arrival there of U.S. Air Force units.

The council rejected the Chinese-Soviet move, with only the Soviet Union voting in favor.

Islands Alert For Hurricane
Tropical Storm Threatens Leeward, Windward Groups

San Juan, Puerto Rico—A hurricane watch was maintained in the Leeward and northern Windward islands today as tropical storm Fifi moved through the Atlantic 550 miles east southeast of here.

Gale warnings already are flying in the islands. Residents there and in Puerto Rico and the Virgin islands were advised to keep in touch with developments.

At Miami, Forecaster Arnold Sugg said a low pressure area stretching from Bermuda southwest to the Bahamas is expected to keep Fifi on a more northerly course than its predecessor, Ella.

Ella, which moved almost due west until it got south of the Dominican Republic, was blowing itself out in Texas today. There were no reports on Fifi during the night but it is believed to be moving at about 17 miles an hour in a direction between west north-west and west. Its highest winds are estimated at 60 miles an hour over a small area near its center.

At 5 a.m. advisory placed Fifi at a point near latitude 16.2 north, longitude 57.4 west, or about 2,000 miles from the U.S. mainland. The storm was spawned yesterday in an area which gave birth earlier in the season to storm Becky and hurricane Cleo.

Air force planes from Bermuda were checking Fifi for more specific data on its behavior.

3 Killed, 20 Missing In Chilean Quakes

Santiago, Chile—A series of earthquakes in the Andes mountains east of Santiago killed three persons, government sources said. Twenty others were reported missing and many buildings damaged.

China Owns Islands, Red Chief Insists

Tokyo—Communist China's Premier Chou En-lai today called on the United States to resume ambassador level talks.

Chou's statement, made in a Chinese language broadcast, said "The Chinese government is now prepared to resume the ambassador level talks to make another effort for the defense of peace."

Chou reiterated red China's claim that Formosa and Pescadores islands have always been Chinese territory and it was "Chinese internal affair" to exercise Chinese sovereignty and to liberate these areas.

The broadcast was the first comment made by Chou on the tense Formosa strait situation.

Broke Up Dec. 12

The talks Chou wants resumed broke up last Dec. 12 in Geneva. They were opened in 1955 between U. S. Ambassador Alexis U. Johnson and red China's Wang Pingnan.

On June 30, red China made a similar demand for a resumption of the Geneva talks. A Peiping radio broadcast said then that if Washington took no action on resuming the talks by July 14, it would be considered responsible for breaking off the talks. Red China then threw in a threat against Formosa.

In his statement today, Chou emphasized "the dispute between the Peoples Republic of China and the United States is completely separate from the current Taiwan (Formosa) crisis."

He said Formosa was strictly "an internal affair of China."

Chou said that if the United States "outrageously continues its aggression and intervention in China and forces war upon the Chinese people, the United States will be held responsible for all the grave consequences to arise."

Chou said "the international dispute between China and the United States on Formosa is a matter different from the problem of Chinese internal affairs for liberating its own territory. The United States has been consistently confusing these two matters and covered up its aggression and intervention in China."

Nationalists and U. S. Task Force Plan Maneuvers

Taipei—A tough little task force converged on war-threatened southern Formosa waters today for the first combined amphibious landing of U.S. and nationalist Chinese forces.

Units of the Seventh fleet, the nationalist fleet and marines and aircraft from both will participate in "Operation Land Ho" at Fangliang, south of the Formosan port of Kaohsiung, beginning Monday.

Only battalion-size striking forces from both nations, involving an over-all total of less than 10,000 men, will be used. An estimated 4,000 troops will be Americans.

Send More Naval Vessels to Strait

Reds Expected to Strengthen Efforts to Cut Off Supplies

BY GENE KRAMER

Taipei — Communist China is moving faster and heavier naval power toward the explosive Formosa strait area, the chief military spokesman for nationalist China said today.

The reported buildup of red seapower is increasing the threat to nationalist-held offshore islands, Rear Adm. Liu Hoh-tu said.

More communist warships could be used to intensify red efforts to cut off the nationalist supply route from Formosa to the islands and would be needed to cover any invasion attempt against the islands.

Indications mounted on Formosa, meanwhile, that the nationalists are preparing to bomb the communist mainland if the reds begin massive artillery or bombing attacks on Quemoy.

Liu said, "Intelligence reports trickling in indicate (the communists) are moving bigger naval units in from the northern area. Up to now they've used only smaller type torpedo boats against us."

The admiral said reports indicated the reds were sending south from the Shanghai, Tsingtao and Yangtze river areas gunboats resembling the 300-ton Kronstadt and the 900-ton Riga class warships of the Soviet navy. The red torpedo boats now in the strait are less than 100 tons, Liu added.

Shooting Eases
With both sides in the vest pocket war jockeying for position, actual shooting had slackened off.

The communists gave no indication of carrying out last week's threat of redoubled bombardments, however. Up to mid-afternoon, the nationalist defense ministry had no reports of shelling since yesterday, which was the lightest day since the red shelling of Quemoy started two weeks ago.

The indications of just-in-case bombing preparations came after a top U.S. official in Washington said the complex of new communist airfields near Quemoy would be bombed almost immediately if used for assaults on the nationalist stronghold island close to the mainland.

Moscow Threat
The U.S. authority hinted nationalist planes would do the job. But if the reds try to carry out reprisal raids on Formosa or the Pescadores, the United States would be treaty-bound to protect them.

The official said only conventional weapons — not nuclear bombs — were involved in the possible bombings.

The U.S. threat was matched by an unofficial one from Moscow. In the strongest Soviet denunciation of the west since the 1956 Suez crisis, Soviet newspapers and broadcasts indicated the Soviet Union and red China may be about to join in some decisive action, diplomatic or otherwise.

Western diplomats in Moscow sensed an approaching climax to the crisis as Premier Khrushchev cut short his vacation in the south to return to the Soviet capital. He told a visitor he was dealing with urgent matters, would stay in Moscow a few days, then resume his holiday.

Red Blockade of Quemoy Effective, Newspaper Reports

New York —The New York Times says in a dispatch from Quemoy that an effective blockade of Quemoy has been imposed by communist China.

The dispatch, by Greg MacGregor, said this is apparent "despite efforts by nationalist Chinese and United States military leaders here to obscure developments."

"Since the beginning of the current campaign against the offshore islands Aug. 23, no troop or supply shipment of consequence has reached here from Taiwan (Formosa) or the Penghu (Pescadores) islands," the story said.

It said the most recent attempt to land troop reinforcements in unit strength was made Sept. 1, when a transport carrying more than 400 men and supplies was intercepted by a handful of red gunboats six miles from the landing beach.

"After a minor exchange between 20-mm. and 40-mm deck guns, the transport retreated to the port of embarkation," the story continued.

Map Program For Evacuation

All in Metropolitan Area Told Where to Go if Attack Comes

Milwaukee —Civil defense officials announced Friday a site-to-site evacuation program for residents of the Milwaukee - Kenosha - Racine million - plus population target area.

Mayor Frank Zeidler of Milwaukee, said the plan was a "terrific breakthrough" in civil defense because it will tell persons where to go in event of an impending attack.

Briefly, the plan would assign reporting stations to persons from separate areas. Sheboygan, for example, has been designated as the reception area for evacuees from Milwaukee area communities of Mequon, Grafton, Cedarburg, River Hills, Fox Points, Bayshore, Whitefish Bay, Shorewood and Glendale.

Officials said the school district of community in which an evacuee resides determines the assignment area. The school district for the larger areas was chosen as the specific unit because parents are more familiar with the schools their children attend than the wards in which they live.

The cities of Racine and Kenosha would evacuate into Rock, Green and Lafayette counties. CD officials said the evacuation districts average about 10,000 persons each.

Tribe to Vote on Organizing County

Menominee Reservation Would Be Included When Control Ends

Keshena —Members of the Menominee Indian tribe will vote Tuesday on whether they want to form Wisconsin's seventy-second county.

The new governmental unit would be known as Menominee county and would comprise the entire 234,000 acres of the present Menominee Indian reservation after termination of federal supervision scheduled on Dec. 31, 1960.

Several alternatives will be offered to the tribe's 3,270 enrolled members in balloting: a separate county, attachment to either Langlade, Oconto or Shawano counties, or remaining as the reservation with seven townships in Shawano county and three in Oconto county.

Ballots Distributed
Printed ballots were sent this week to all adult enrolled Menominees. Ballots can be cast Sept. 9 at the four designated polling places—Keshena, Neopit, Zoar or South Branch—or they can be mailed to Keshena.

The votes will be canvassed and counted Monday, Sept. 15.

With the changeover to strictly local government from federal supervision and jurisdiction in effect since the Menominees occupied the reservation in 1852, tribal members will assume full responsibility for law administration and enforcement, welfare, public health, roads, elections, tax assessments and administration of town and county finances.

Preliminary studies presented by the tribe's coordinating and negotiating committee on termination show the new county would have an equalized valuation for tax purposes of $32,342,000.

Tribal members have indicated several other advantages of "staying independent" in addition to an unfavorable tax prospect of attaching to adjoining counties.

They include local governmental control of taxes, zoning and forest and agriculture affairs, better representation, and having to deal only with the state legislature in setting up the new governmental organization, rather than acceptance through referendum by neighboring counties.

Freak Storm Strikes Southeast England

London —Southeast England mopped up today after a freak rain and hail storm that paralyzed transport and devastated crops.

No deaths were reported but property damage was heavy. The storm hit after a hot, sultry day. In less than two hours it had turned roads into roaring rivers choked with fallen trees, left hundreds of automobiles stranded and brought train and plane service to a halt.

Stevenson Illustrates Why He Will Not be Candidate

Paris—"I shall not seek the nomination," said Adlai Stevenson today when asked whether he again would run for president. Then he told this story:

A holocaust had destroyed all living things on earth except a bedraggled, miserable gorilla. Wandering the earth, hungry, exhausted and discouraged the gorilla came upon a cave at whose entrance stood a beautiful lady gorilla, apparently untouched.

"How did you escape?" the gorilla asked her. She indicated the cave which had sheltered her from the holocaust.

"We are the only two living beings on earth," she said.

"Lady," the gorilla asked, after thinking this over, "have you got anything to eat?"

The lady gorilla went deep into the cave then emerged with a big, red apple.

"Oh Lord," groaned the Gorilla, "let's not start that again."

Southwest Iowa Has New Floods

Atlantic, Iowa —Floodwaters caused by rains of 5 to 13 inches surged today through this southwest Iowa area where similar cloudbursts in early July took 19 lives.

There have been no reports of casualties in the current flood but a number of families, including 25 at Atlantic, were moved from their homes.

The East Nishnabotna river once again is the chief major watercourse in flood but flash flooding on smaller streams also is causing extensive damage.

The victims were Joyce Ann Ervin, 15, of Kenosha, and Ralph Bennett, 28, of Waukegan.

If 13 Is An Unlucky Number, These Young pups don't know anything about it. Friday the 13th of June was the day they were born, and the litter totals — yup — 13 puppies. The Willard Henkes, route 3, Appleton, say it's the largest litter born on their farm. The pups are a cross between collie and shepherd. For sharp-eyed readers: You're right, only 12 dogs are shown. One had been sold to a neighbor.

Nicolet Grade School Classes Start Thursday

Remodeling Delays Scheduled Opening At Park School

Kaukauna — Nicolet public grade school is scheduled to open for classes Thursday but the opening of Park is still indefinite, according to T. H. Boebel, superintendent of schools.

The two public schools were originally scheduled to begin classes this week but construction work has delayed the start of school. The majority of interior remodeling work at Nicolet has been completed and equipment will be moved into the building early next week.

A complete remodeling program was undertaken at both schools early this year and both institutions are scheduled to have an addition to the buildings. The work on the additions will not interfere with regular class periods. The opening of Park school will be delayed slightly longer as work on the remodeling has not progressed as rapidly as that at Nicolet.

Contributing to the late opening of school has been the damp and cool weather in August which kept paint and plaster from drying properly. Youngsters will have a limited play area at both Park and Nicolet this fall because of construction work and ma-

Zitske Leads Majors With Big 214 Line

New London — Arnie Zitske topped the Major Bowling league with a 214-single for McDermott's Bar but the team lost three lines to Sport-O-Lectric at Van's alleys.

Ralph Poepeke topped a 201 single for Brown Brothers Oil as his team lost a pair of lines to Franklin House. Van's Alleys won three lines from Kamke Shell Gas and Miller's Restaurant won two lines from Ebert's Bar, which was topped by Herman Gagnow's 201 single.

Kurt Kaminski, Route 2, Weyauwega, is shown with his grand champion registered Duroc boar. The pig was named grand champion in both the open and junior class. Kaminski, a senior on the Weyauwega FFA chapter, and his brother, Waldeemar, won 19 blue ribbons and four red ribbons on the 11 pigs they entered at the Waupaca county fair at Weyauwega. This is the third consecutive year that the Kaminskis have won the grand championship in the Duroc breed.

Stange Asked To Compete In Primary

Says He Would Accept Democratic Write-in Nomination

Waupaca — Robert F. Stange, Waupaca, has confirmed reports that county Democratic officials have approached him to seek the Democratic nomination for district attorney in the Sept. 9 primary election.

Stange has stated that he will not actively seek nomination for the office, but will accept if selected in the primary.

With the primary set for Tuesday, the only way a candidate may be nominated to run in the November election is through write-ins on the primary ballot.

Needs 367 Votes. Howard Hazen, Manawa, Democratic county chairman, says that to be nominated in the primary, Stange will have to receive 367 write-in votes. This is the equivalent of one-tenth of the Democratic voting average in the last two gubernatorial elections.

Should this goal be reached, a candidate would be eligible to compete in the November election.

The write-in candidate's name may either be written in at the polls, or a printed sticker with the candidate's name on it may be stamped on the ballot. Stickers have been printed by the party.

Incumbent Dist. Atty. Gen. K. Anderson is a candidate on the Republican ticket for a third term. Atty. Arthur Scheller, Jr., had planned to run on the Republican ticket for the office, but has accepted a teaching position at Loyola university in Chicago this fall.

9 Rooms in School Declared Unsafe

Fond du Lac —P— The bell opening the first full day of school for 1,005 junior high school students had just sounded Thursday when they packed up and went home. The school board closed Roosevelt Junior High school, temporarily, after a state inspector declared nine rooms unsafe. The building consists of three sections, one built in 1873, another in 1910 and the third in 1925. Elmer A. Kaestner, school board president, said classes probably will resume next Wednesday after schedules have been shuffled to avoid using the nine rooms. There was nary a student protest.

Albuquerque —P— It just didn't work. Two helpful but unidentified boys tried to get rid of a swarm of bees in the East San Jose school in Albuquerque by burning them out. Result: Part of one wall and the interior of the building badly damaged; three firemen stung by the irate bees, and the bees still firmly entrenched.

Busy Season Exhausts Supply

Hoeppner Firm Looking for New Home Listings to Sell

A rush in demand for desirable homes during the back-to-school season has nearly exhausted the supply of home listings for sale at Hoeppner Const. Co. Inc. Real Estate, local real estate firm located at 619 E. Wisconsin avenue, officers of the company said Friday.

According to Robert P. (Bud) Hoeppner, owner of the company, an unusual amount of late summer activity on the Fox Cities real estate scene has resulted in a scarcity of homes to show prospective buyers with the result that a waiting R. Hoeppner list for certain types of family dwellings has developed. Readers who are considering selling their home or trading it on a newer or brand new model are invited to consult with the firm to take advantage of this situation, exceptionally favorable to the home owner who is willing to sell. The hardworking staff at the Hoeppner firm consists of experienced sales people who will go right to work on your listing, it was pointed out. Homes, lots, business properties, leases, subdivisions — all are in heavy demand at the present time, and readers phoning sales manager Don Du Chateau at D. Du Chateau RE 3-4756 will be assured of prompt service and consideration.

Readers may also phone the firm directly at 3-8153, Hoeppner said. Many satisfied Hoeppner customers are now living in well located quality Hoeppner homes as the result of making just such a phone call, he points out.

For an honest deal, in which you will realize the full value of the property you wish to sell, Hoeppner suggests prospective sellers contact his firm as soon as their plans to sell become certain.

The phone number to call, in addition to those of his salesmen, is 3-8153, he emphasized.

Rambler American A Car For "Do It Yourself" Purchaser

In a service sense, the 1958 Rambler American is a "do-it-yourself" automobile, according to Stebانه Nash, Forest Junction Nash-Rambler dealer. Each American purchaser is provided with a manual which shows how to make general repairs and adjustments which do not require special tools or equipment. "It was decided to provide such a manual since the American is so easy to service and because a great many motorists enjoy making their own repairs," Stebانه said Friday. "Use of this manual also will result in substantial savings in operating costs." The manual outlines adjustment and repair procedures for items such as the carburetor, distributor, wheel bearings, brakes, ignition and spark plugs, as well as showing how to lubricate the car.

Versatile Dryer
Frigidaire's new matching Custom Imperial automatic dryer is equally versatile. Again, the homemaker dials according to fabric type and the machine selects the proper drying time and temperature. The dryer measures the amount of moisture content in the clothes and turns itself off when the clothes are dry. The Custom Imperial model, like all others in the line, provides "Wrinkles - Away" drying for wash-and-wear garments. Homemakers can save up to nine hours of ironing board drudgery a week because some clothes come out of the dryer "pressed" and ready to wear. In addition, the dryer can be used to remove "wear" wrinkles quickly from garments that do not necessarily need laundering.

For sprinkling clothes, the homemaker has only to dial for "sprinkler" and the Custom Imperial model provides a 17-minute cycle during which time clothes are processed and come out ready for ironing. The clothes sprinkler is built into the dryer and is easily filled through a convenient opening atop the control panel.

The Custom Imperial model also features an exclusive Filterator which ends "steam bath" drying without outside venting or plumbing installation. This device traps lint, objectionable heat and moisture inside the dryer, never letting them into the laundry room. An ozone lamp makes clothes smell fresh and sweet.

Expanded Line
Frigidaire's new automatic washer line has been expanded to include seven models for 1959, including two Custom Imperial models (WCIR-59 and WCI-59); an Imperial model (WI-59); a Custom Deluxe model (WCD-59), two Deluxe models (WDR-59 and WD-59), and a Super washer model (WS-59).

There are four new automatic electric dryers. At the top of the line is a Custom Imperial dryer (DCI-59). Others are: an Imperial model (DI-59); Custom Deluxe model (DD-59) and Deluxe model (DD-59). Custom Imperial and Imperial automatic washers and dryers come in new Aztec copper, glamorous pink, turquoise, yellow or charcoal gray as well as white. All models are styled in the new sheer look providing an elegant clean-cut appearance that adds exciting custom room. Models fit snugly into position, flush with the wall or cabinets on either side.

Home Appliance company Friday invited readers to come in — the store is located next door to the Appleton State Bank building — to see a working demonstration of the new models. Phone number of the firm is RE 3-4406.

New Washers, Dryers 'Think' for Homemaker — The versatile 1959 Frigidaire home laundry pair shown above "thinks" for homemaker and makes washday breeze-easy. Just dial, and the washer automatically selects proper wash time, amount of water, agitator and spin-dry speeds, and wash and rinse water temperatures. Laundry aids such as bleach, bluing and detergents are dispensed underwater at just the right time. Homemaker is shown pouring fabric softener into dispenser. Set dial and dryer selects proper drying time and temperature, measures moisture content of clothes and turns off. Also, it will "press" wash-and-wear items and even sprinkle clothes. The new 1959 Frigidaire laundry line has just arrived at Appleton's local Frigidaire dealers — The Home Appliance company of 225 W. College avenue.

Automatic Features to Simplify Washday Highlight New Laundry Line

Numerous meaningful automatic features, designed to simplify today's home laundering, highlight Frigidaire's 1959 washer and dryer line, according to Home Appliance company, Appleton Frigidaire dealer, 225 W. College avenue, where Frigidaire's 1959 laundry units have just been put on display.

Ed Hoers, owner, emphasized that recently the United States Testing company, the largest independent organization of its kind in the country, conducted laboratory tests of six leading automatic washers, three of which featured special wash-and-wear cycles.

"The tests proved," he declared, "the Frigidaire wash-and-wear cycle is the best for cleanest clothes, least spin, lint removal, and automatic care of wash-and-wear man-made fabrics."

Unique Agitator
The 1959 Frigidaire washers, some of which have two wash and two spin-drying speeds, feature a remarkable 3-ring agitator that pumps detergent through every piece, fold and fiber of the clothes, and heavily soiled clothes, or bathing out deep-down dirt, according to Hoers.

"This unique agitator," he pointed out, "was designed specifically for use in automatic washing action. The washing action is gentle because waterpower, alone, moves the clothes, and finally a spin-off. There are no hard blades which rub the clothes and tend to stretch and tangle them. Lint is automatically removed and pumped away — enough to do the family along with dirt and soap wash for 12 years. On the average, there are no lint traps in washers also will use 31 percent less detergent a year less than some comparable model is putting in it. dialing: (1) the type of fabric, (2) whether the soil is heavy, light or normal, and (3) whether the load is normal or small.

The Folly of the Crossover Vote

Will an important number of Republican voters enter the Democratic Primary Tuesday for a crossover vote against Sen. Proxmire? Claude Jasper, Madison, chairman of the Republican Party in Wisconsin, says the number will be "fairly substantial" although the Republican leaders are trying to discourage it.

Over the years the Republicans in Wisconsin have bitterly denounced the Democrats for entering the Republican Primaries. The purpose of the crossover vote is to nominate the candidate believed easiest to defeat in the general election. It is quite obvious if the Republicans could nominate one of the two Democrats who are challenging Sen. Proxmire they would have almost certainly won that office.

Why then are the Republican leaders opposing the crossover vote? There are several reasons. First of all it is an underhanded method which is contrary to the whole philosophy of the primary election law. Under the law it is intended that each party will put forward its best candidate and thus the people will have a choice between two well qualified persons.

That in itself should be a sufficient reason, but party leaders may have others. It is impossible to build a party by sending voters to the other side for any reason. We are sure the Democratic leaders have always discouraged the crossover as basically unsound and also in the hope of building the prestige of the party by recording the largest vote possible.

In the primary next Tuesday there is only one contest on the state ticket of the Republicans. This fact provides an ideal situation for the crossover vote. But it would be great folly as well as bad citizenship for the Republicans to be lured into any such election effort.

Already there is much discussion about the possibility of the Democrats winning a larger vote than the Republicans in the primary. If the Democratic vote should exceed that of the Republicans there will be wild rejoicing in the Democratic ranks. It will be interpreted as an indisputable sign of the sudden growth of the party. Such an event would certainly boost the rating of the Democratic party in the state.

It has never been possible to measure the amount of the Democratic crossover vote in past years, but most Republicans are convinced that it has been substantial. If so, it may have been a factor in increasing the prestige of the Republican party over the years. If so, the Republicans would be foolish to return the favor. In addition the crossover is an abuse of the election process which cannot be defended on any sound grounds.

Good News on the Taconite Industry

Gov. Thomson has received a report from Atty. Gen. Honeck indicating that the taconite industry can be developed in northern Wisconsin with very little change in the present water use laws. Further the report says that the industry can operate with very little if any injury to the water resources of the state.

This is cheering news since the northern part of the state where the low grade iron ore is found is in need of industry and the payrolls and other economic advantages it will bring. There has been reluctance, in spite of the great need of jobs, to turn the area over to the taconite industry without safeguards against the possible pollution of water in the area or the excessive consumption of water.

Wisconsin Legislative Council's water resources committee has been studying the state basic water laws for the last seven months with the view of revising them in the next legislature. The use of water by the taconite industry is being considered by the committee in its general study. The committee now has the approval of the Governor on its plan to send five of its members into the Minnesota iron country and to northern Wisconsin to learn what the needs of the taconite industry may be.

Honeck's report indicates that the Minnesota plants have devised a "closed circuit" system of circulating the water through the grinding and concentrating processes into a large tailing basin having no connection with the natural drainage system. After the water stands for a time and the waste materials have settled out, it is pumped back through the plant for re-use. Honeck was told that about 90 per cent of the water which carries wastes into the tailing basins is recovered. Thus there is no pollution of the lakes and streams and the demand for water is comparatively light.

The Honeck report suggests that if the Ashland Mining Company can operate on a comparable basis, its total demand on the water supply in Ashland County would be four-tenths of one cubic foot of water per second. The total need based upon 1,000 gallons per ton of finished concentrate would be about four cubic feet per second. The annual taconite capacity of the plant is planned at one million tons. The demand appears trifling in comparison with the huge supply of water readily available in the Chippewa and Flambeau rivers in the vicinity of the proposed plant site.

Honeck has suggested that talks be initiated with the mining firm to determine whether the assurances the company may require can be given by the state in advance of new legislation. In the meantime the water resources committee will go over the ground again and thus there will be a check on the Honeck report.

It is quite obvious that Wisconsin has a valuable resource in its low grade iron ore. Always before when such a product was needed a way was found to get it out, and it seems certain that a way will be found to get this material out of the ground and into use.

School Days

"The whining schoolboy, with his satchel
And shining morning face, creeping like snail
Unwillingly to school."

It must finally be conceded that, despite the universal quality of Shakespeare's plays, his reluctant scholar no longer exists. Parents have known for years; teachers are beginning to accept the fact. Today's children like school.

Of course there are moans and groans and complaints from the male members particularly from fourth through eighth grade — that's part of the game. But the younger children freely admit to enthusiasm. It isn't all the new dress, or the speculations about a different teacher or the boredom of the last days of summer. Whatever mistakes educators have made in the last few decades, they have succeeded in getting the consumer to enjoy the product.

What Others are Saying

Modern Hero May Not Conform to Old Myths

From the Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail

"One thing we need and badly is heroes." In this dour vein Clifford Odets, the playwright, was moaning and groaning the other day.

"As Emerson said," he continued, his chin on his chest, his soul despairing, "a hero must be a minority of one. He must be an ethical model who breaks the mold of conformity, but this is an age of conformity." (Ed. Note: The surest sign of its conformity is that everyone repeats this cliché about everyone else conforming.)

And as he spoke the Nautilus was cruising swiftly under the polar icecap, having discovered, after a couple of centuries, the true Northwest passage. In utter silence and frozen isolation, its crew made its way up past the Aleutians, across the top of the world and down the other side between Greenland and Iceland.

And as Mr. Odets moaned another crew was thrusting a flight of Voodoo fighters all the way from Texas to Great Britain in a non-stop flight. They will come back the same way, refueling in midair, and then go back again, setting up a sort of commuter service.

And while they are at it still another crew will be taking a shot at the moon, setting off a multi-stage rocket with a television camera in the nose. Object: to get the first look at the other side.

Conformists all, and a bit craven, too — men who have fallen into a rut and don't know it and, therefore, make no effort to get out. It is dispiriting, that's what it is, to an age which grew up on the legends of St. George and the Dragon and Sir Frances Drake and Captain Nemo.

Or could it be that Mr. Odets is so utterly conformed to a well-established myth that he does not recognize a hero when he sees one? In our books the hero (or men) who set his course under the polar ice and came out on the other side is just as heroic as anything in the annals of exploration.

Don't Need War With U.N. Code

From the Concrete (Wash.) Herald

We would be all right if all nations would attend strictly to the United Nations code and bring their grievances to the assembly. By the time an agreement was reached both parties would have long forgotten the argument. No need to fight wars over anything.

Even Tom Sawyer Had Nothing on These 2 Boys

Pioneer Life on Door County Island Told

BY IDA MARGARET BAY
Post-Crescent News Service

This is a true account of pioneer life and its effect on two small Door county boys who lived it and loved it. Almost their entire childhood was spent on a remote 9-acre island in Lake Michigan during the turbulent 1870s and 1880s. Their father was the lighthouse keeper.

Dull moments were rare on the island of Cana for adventure came to them by land and by sea. There were sights to stir the imagination.

On the east side of the island was the lake — a vast blue front yard full of schooners and an endless procession of barges, brigs, sloops and steamers. Sometimes a hundred ships a day passed the island, all loaded with the products of the northern forests.

Their destination was the large cities at the southern end of the lake, Milwaukee and Chicago. The return trip brought the things so vitally needed by the settlers — though never enough to meet the demand.

Swamp and Forest

On the other side of Cana, to the west, was the mainland. Separated only by a narrow channel were miles of cedar swamps and dense pine and hardwood forests, whose height cut off the sun early in the afternoon. Strange and frightening sounds came from its depths after dark. The wail of a bobcat and the howl of a timber wolf were disturbing enough to make the boys appreciate the safety of their island home.

The problems of island life were many and varied. Transportation was very difficult. To get the mail and the most meager provisions it was necessary to row a small skiff to the mainland and then walk eight miles to the nearest village — which happened to be Bailey's Harbor.

The boys often went along with their father. Their mother took care of the lighthouse during his absence. Needless to say these were bright moments of their young lives.

Learn to Barter

There was the excitement of lingering in the small general store, hearing the colorful conversation of the lumberjacks and fishermen; the thrill of watching the blacksmith shoe horses and oxen, the awesome innards of the grist mill changing grain to flour. And to top it off a night spent aboard a schooner — listening to the hair-raising tales exchanged by the crew. Their father knew many of the lake captains and enjoyed visiting them.

It did not take the boys long to get acquainted with the ship's cook, nor to learn that a box of spruce gum could be exchanged for a bag of oranges, or that a tame crow was worth many sticks of sassafras candy to a lonely sailor.

The boys loved to take day-long excursions to the mainland. The search for wild fruit was as good an excuse as any for going over and they usually came home with as much as they could carry. A fresh berry pie on the supper table was common.

sidered a fitting reward for their efforts.

The boys also had great sport spearing the plentiful sturgeon and feeding them to their pets. These fish were not considered good food.

Every pioneer family kept a cow and some chickens. The lightkeeper's family was no exception. Their cow was a sociable creature who swam the channel twice, and walked five miles every day just to graze with the nearest neighbor's herd. She returned promptly each night at milking time.

There were no schools or churches anywhere near Cana. When the boys became of school age their father hired a teacher to live at the lighthouse. Her salary was $18 per month and she worked all 12 months of the year.

The children had no other human playmates but they took care of that situation in their own way. They simply chose some wild animal for a companion and lavished so much love, kindness and consideration upon it that it was content to live in captivity.

Billy the deer was such a companion, a position he held for eight happy years. Other animals and birds shared their affections, an albino porcupine, innumerable rabbits, tame crows and even a wildcat!

The cat was a young one which got into a rabbit trap by mistake. They named him Bobby and set out to tame him.

Bobby was most uncooperative at first. He slept all day and made the nights hideous with snarling and growling.

Ever so slowly he responded to the boys' kindness. By

Only a Guess What Reds Will Do

Background on Critical Formosan Situation

BY JAMES MARLOW
AP Foreign News Analyst

This is an ABC on the background leading to the present Formosan crisis, latest in a series, which might explode into war or melt away by letting the reds grab a little real estate without a fight.

After World War II the United States pumped money into China to help its wartime ally, President Chiang Kai-shek, establish a stable government, put in needed reforms, and win the people's allegiance.

The reforms didn't come. The money was squandered. American attempts to get Chiang and the Chinese communists to work together failed. The reds grew stronger, smashed Chiang's armies. His troops deserted to the reds in bunches.

Lacked Equipment

The United States washed its hands of both sides. In the fall of 1949 the reds drove Chiang and his remaining troops off the mainland and to Formosa, 100 miles across the Formosa straits.

But Chiang's forces grabbed and held a number of islands off the mainland. They included Quemoy, the Matsus, the Tachens, and a number of tiny islets. The reds lacked the planes and ships to pursue Chiang and finish him off.

President Truman was so disgusted with the whole situation that early in 1950 he said this country would not get mixed up in the Chinese Civil war. This meant Chiang was on his own. Still, the reds lacked the means to reach and crush him.

He remained on his own the first six months of 1950. Then the Korean war began in June. Truman sent the Seventh fleet into the Formosa straits to "neutralize" the red-nationalist conflict.

The picture changed abruptly in the fall of 1950 when the red Chinese got into the Korean war. From then till now American policy has been to defend Chiang from red attack.

It was decided Formosa was strategically important to the United States and must be defended. The Seventh fleet was kept in the area as Chiang's guardian against the reds who steadily gained in strength.

Strategic Decision

During the 1952 campaign Dwight D. Eisenhower promised a "dynamic" policy if he won. One of his first acts in office in 1953 as president was a change of orders to the Seventh fleet, permitting what was called the "unleashing" of Chiang.

If this was intended to jitter the reds by giving the impression Chiang was now free to attack the mainland, neither the jitters nor the impression lasted long. Chiang, without American help, couldn't fight.

Growing stronger, the reds began a steady peppering of the Chiang-held offshore islands. This kept up. Early in 1955 Eisenhower decided to take a more positive position than the stated American policy up to that time.

Get Concessions

He asked and got from congress:

1. Approval of a resolution authorizing him to throw American forces into a fight against the reds, if necessary, to defend Formosa, the nearby Pescadore islands, and "related areas." More about those areas in a moment.

2. Approval of a mutual defense treaty with Chiang. This pledged the United States to help Chiang defend Formosa.

But Eisenhower under the resolution was free to decide what, if any, of those "related areas" he would defend or think worth defending. So what was left unanswered then, and is still unanswered, is this question:

Would Eisenhower, in case of red attack on the offshore islands held by Chiang, use American forces to defend them and thus get the United States into a possible war with red China? In short: Would he consider any or all of those islands necessary for the defense of Formosa?

Gave Up Islands

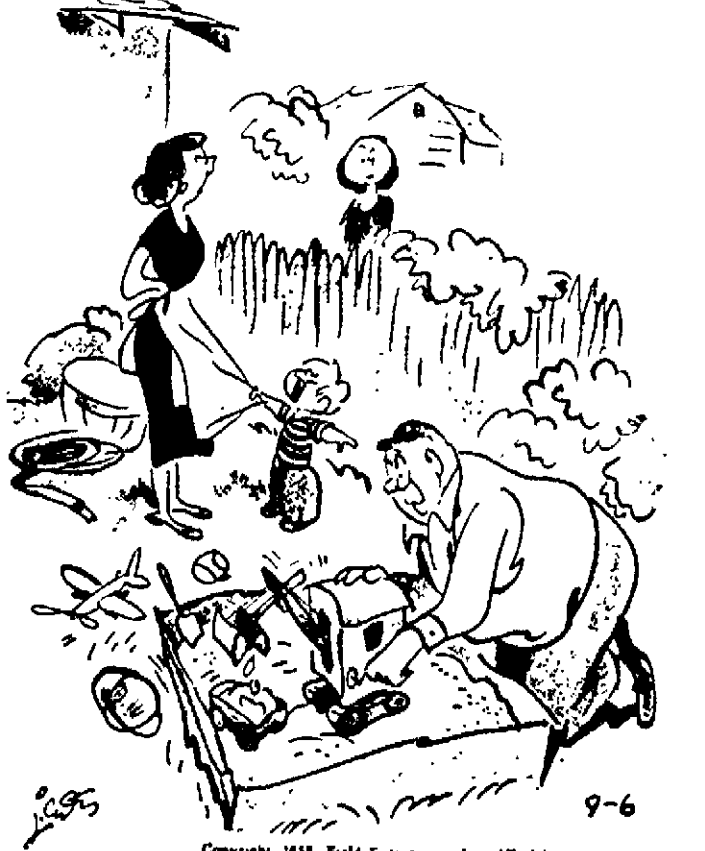

Very quickly, early in 1955, he had to make up his mind. The reds were banging away at the Tachens islands, 200 miles northwest of Formosa. He decided to let the reds have them without a fight and persuaded Chiang to agree. The Seventh fleet, in Formosa straits then as it is now, simply helped get Chiang's troops off the Tachens. The reds took them.

Things quieted down until a few weeks ago. Again the reds bombarded the offshore islands, particularly Quemoy, near the China mainland and directly across the straits from Formosa. The Matsus are 75 miles northwest of Formosa. But there are a number of Chiang-held islets near the mainland too.

There's only guessing now as to whether the reds will try to take Quemoy, the Matsus or just to win a little prestige, the tiny islets. The Eisenhower administration has said the U. S. will fight to keep the islands out of red hands.

Democrats May Back State Withholding Tax

Philleo Nash Among Candidates Who Endorse New Wisconsin Tax Program

Madison — The Democratic party of Wisconsin appears likely to embrace a proposal for a state income tax withholding system that has been coolly received by recent Republican state administrations.

Several principal Democratic candidates for state office have proposed tax withholding for the state. Among them are Philleo Nash of Wisconsin Rapids, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Palmer Daus of Jefferson, candidate for state treasurer. Lesser party figures, including some legislative aspirants, have also spoken favorably of the idea.

Not Endorsed Yet

Although top party spokesmen have not yet endorsed such a plan, it is regarded as unlikely that the lesser figures would make such proposals without the knowledge that the party organization generally is sympathetic. The impression is now rapidly growing that a Democratic state administration of the state would move for such a change in state tax management.

The income tax is the basic state revenue resource. It has been administered on a once a year basis since its origin more than 40 years ago. It yields more than $100,000,000 a year, about half of it derived from individual taxpayers on salaries and other forms of personal income.

Withholding Plan

A withholding plan was seriously considered by the Thomson administration and the Republican-controlled legislature last year, but was rejected when there were protests from businessmen and especially smaller employers who complained that such a system would transfer an obligation and a proper cost of government to themselves.

Some politicians find the system appealing, however, because it would serve to make less painful the state's tax exactions. Especially if state income taxes are increased, many of them feel, withholding would make the state revenue system more palatable politically.

Several other states have installed withholding systems — modeled upon the war-born federal tax withholding scheme — in recent years and several Wisconsin legislative committees have examined other state experience.

High Court Will Hear Appleton Teamster Case

The state supreme court will hear arguments Monday on whether or not the Appleton Teamsters Local 563 must pay an attorney hired by its former officers.

Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell ruled last September that the union must pay Atty. Samuel Sigman $4,287 in fees he claimed due him. Sigman claimed he was hired by George Behling, former local business agent, and William Hietpas, former president, to fight a trusteeship imposed by the international union.

Teamster Agent Robert Schlieve said members felt the former union officers should pay for their own defense.

The international took over the local in 1954. Behling and local officers fought the trusteeship through municipal court. The trial ended with control of the local going to the international - appointed officers.

Trio Ordered to Pay $76 for Damaging Youth's Car in July

Three youths have been placed under supervision and ordered to pay $76.20 for the damage they did to another youth's car July 11.

A 17-year-old youth, whom police said has been in and out of trouble since he came here from the west coast last year, was placed under the supervision of the state department of public welfare for a year and told to pay $46.20 in damages. The boy is married and has a child.

His accomplices in the car-damaging spree were two boys 16 and one 17. County Judge Stanley A. Staidl has ordered two to pay $15 each for damages done and put them under supervision of the county welfare department for a year. One of the 16-year-olds was unable to appear in juvenile court.

Argued Over Insult

The youths got into an argument with a youth in another car over an alleged insult to the 17-year-old's wife. When the youth parked his car in the 1500 block of N. Bennett street, the quartet proceeded to put stone in the gas tank, break off the aerial, let air out of the tires and damaged the hood of his car.

The 17-year-old youth ordered to pay $46.20 also was involved last month in a fracas at the Trinity Lutheran church which included several fights and creating a disturbance at the church.

The other 17-year-old earlier this year was fined for fighting at one of the Pierce park dances.

Teamsters Will Organize Biscuit Firm Workers

The Teamsters have won the right to bargain for workers at the Johnston Biscuit company warehouse in Appleton, business agent Robert Schlieve reports.

All four workers eligible voted for the union in an NLRB election Aug. 29. The employees have petitioned the Wisconsin employment relations board for a union shop referendum — the date to be set later. The company has agreed.

The bargaining unit includes two truck drivers, a truck driver - warehouseman and a clerk-cookie packer.

The union sought permission to represent the Johnston employees, including the branch manager. The company contended the clerk-cookie packer and manager were ineligible. On Aug. 12 the board disqualified the manager, but said the clerk-cookie packer should be included in the bargaining unit.

Long Awaited Review Of Fish Program Set Sept. 16

Management, Research Policies to Be Open to Questioning at Special Session at Commission Offices

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — After several false starts, the long-heralded public review of the state's game fish management and improvement program will be held here Sept. 16.
The state conservation commission will hold a special session here in its general offices, with the public invited and encouraged to ask questions on any phase of fisheries activities which some commissioners have said are not completely understood.
Charles F. Smith, the Wisconsin commissioner who moved for such a session, has carefully explained that he did so without critical intent.
But because there has been some controversy about some phases of the program recently, the impression has been created in some quarters that the fish division heads may be subjected to some unfriendly questioning at the meeting.

There have been louder demands in the Wisconsin northland recently for a bigger and broader program of game fish stocking, and especially of wall-eyed pike and muskellunge.
Research Program
There has also been some discussion about changes in the department's many research programs. Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto, chairman of a legislative interim committee studying conservation department affairs, has said he may move in the next legislature to transfer the research functions to the University of Wisconsin.
The conservation commission will hold its regular monthly meeting here on the following day, Sept. 17.
Conservation Director Lester Voigt explained that in promptu questions from the public at the fisheries discussion meeting won't be barred, but that he is encouraging the submission of written questions in advance of the session to permit staff employees to gather such information as may be sought.

Crayfish Draw Attention of Game People

Study Chances for Liberalization of Harvesting Rules

Conservation department investigators are showing interest in the prolific crayfish which is capable of producing a marketable crop of at least 80 pounds to the acre in many localities.
Crayfish have been taken and sold in Wisconsin for many years, and especially from the west shore of Green Bay, but the crop is far larger than has been generally supposed and the chances are that more harvesting could be permitted without damage, according to observations of C. W. Threinen of the state department staff.
Threinen recently studied crayfish trapping in Price county, in waters that are typical of those inhabited by the creature, and found himself surprised by the size of the harvest and the abundance of the species.
Regulations probably could be liberalized, especially through opening more counties to crayfish trapping, he said in a report to his superiors.

Only 22 of the 71 counties of the state are now opened to such trapping, including Outagamie county and neighboring territory.
Threinen found that the basic market for the species is through biological supply houses, although some are also sold in the specialty food markets. Crayfish are especially desirable in Swedish-type cookery, he explained. Mostly males are harvested. Closed seasons are not as important as usual in fish management because weather controls the harvest. Through the control of trap opening sizes, the size of the crayfish taken can be controlled also.
Not all of the species of crayfish are valuable, but the largest and most valuable is also the most common, Threinen found.
The investigator reported studies in other states suggesting crayfish populations amounting to 1,000 per acre, and observed that current harvesting pressures therefore are not likely to be excessive.
"One can see there is great potential in this resource," he said after a field study of trapping in the Wilson creek flowage district of Price county.

Truman's Clerical Staff to Get Pay From Federal Government

Kansas City — Former President Harry S. Truman's clerical staff of three is going on the federal payroll.
Thomas G. Jay, regional commissioner of the general services administration, said that agreement was reached yesterday.
The GSA will administer the pension bill passed by congress Aug. 28. It provides $50,000 to former presidents for clerical help and a $25,000 annual pension to former chief executives.
In the past ex-presidents received no pension and paid for clerical help out of their own pockets.
Truman will keep a personal secretary, an administrative assistant and a stenographer.

Chemical Attack On Sea Lamprey Planned for Fall

Six Northern Wisconsin Rivers to Be Treated With Special Poison

Madison — A chemical attack on the sea lamprey, a predator that has wiped out most of the lake trout in the Great Lakes, will get underway this fall on spawning grounds in six northern Wisconsin rivers.
The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has obtained clearance from the state conservation department and the state committee on water pollution to extend its lamprey poisoning program to Wisconsin. It is already underway in Michigan. Clearance for poison applications on other Wisconsin rivers will probably be sought next year.
New Poison
The agency plans to use a new poison so selective it kills lamprey larvae embedded in the river mud, yet it is not harmful to other kinds of aquatic life. During testing the chemical—3, 4, 6-trichloro-2-nitrophenol—produced a 100 per cent larvae kill within several hours after minute quantities were fed into a flowing stream.
Dr. Edward Schneberger of the conservation department said the number of fish affected by the poison would be negligible.
Rivers selected are the Amnicon, Middle, Poplar and Brule in Douglas county; Fish Creek in Bayfield county; and the Bad river in Ashland county. All flow into Lake Superior. The larvae, which lie in the mud four to five years, are killed when the poison flows over them.
Officials Optimistic
Members of the Great Lakes Fishery commission are so optimistic about the new poison they have called a meeting of state and federal representatives to talk about plans for rehabilitating and restocking lake trout in the Great Lakes. This would be an idle gesture without some assurance the poison will either drastically thin out or completely kill off the lamprey.

The lamprey came into the lakes with ocean shipping. They grow up to two feet long and look like a big eel.
The lamprey fix their strong suction-cup mouths to the sides of large fish, usually hanging on and growing until the fish dies.
The Michigan conservation department has issued permits for poisoning lamprey larvae in 30 rivers feeding into Lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior. The federal agency began work with the new poison this summer and indicated it wants to get as much poisoning done this fall as possible while water levels are stable and low. The poisoning program is federally financed.
Springtime Out
High water and flood danger rule out springtime applications.
The program offers new hope for the Great Lakes commercial fishing industry which has suffered during the years when the lamprey depleted the supply of lake trout and whitefish. Fishermen recently have had to settle for less profitable chubs, perch lake herring and smelt. Lamprey have now turned to large chubs and the conservation department said they are being reduced at an alarming rate.
Lake trout production on Lake Michigan dropped from 2,500,000 pounds in 1940 to zero last year. Lake Michigan commercial fishermen who caught 1,806,000 pounds of whitefish in the peak year of 1947 caught almost none last year. The number of fish bearing lamprey scars has risen steadily.
Wire traps and electric weirs used the past few years to trap adult lampreys on their way upstream to spawn have been only partially successful. The conservation department and the fish and wildlife service jointly operate 18 weirs on streams feeding into Lake Michigan and 12 into Lake Superior. Last year they trapped 45,227 adults in 18 traps.
Poison would be a welcome replacement for trapping. Some lamprey now spawn below the traps, some get over during flash floods and others are dropped over by fishermen. Conservation personnel must also empty the traps regularly.

Beaver Harvest Tops Recent Kill Records

13,646 Put on Pelt Boards by Trappers Of State Last Season
The state's crop of beaver pelts showed an abrupt spurt last winter and will very likely be even larger during the new trapping seasons to be authorized next winter.
Pelt Prices
Responding to generally improved conditions, trappers last winter took 13,646 beaver, the conservation department reports, which was about twice the volume harvested in some recent years.
Pelt prices were somewhat improved, seasons and bag limits were liberalized, and trapping conditions were good it was explained.
Further liberalizations of seasons are planned for next winter by the department which has noted an increase in beaver population and wants to control the species because of its habit of damaging trout streams in upper Wisconsin.
Trout Fishermen
Trout fishermen have actively encouraged a heavier cropping program in representations to the conservation commission.
With an average pelt value of $10.93 last winter, the beaver trappers took a harvest worth about $150,000, against about $81,000 during the previous season.
There were 1,164 beaver trapping licenses issued.

Attention All Hunters! It may seem like summer now but in little more than three weeks wood scenes like this will be commonplace throughout Wisconsin. But you don't have to be a hunter to enjoy the beauties of fall. A walk in the woods, with or without a gun, can be one of the most rewarding experiences of the year.

Final Fishing Report of Year Notes Little Pressure, Improved Angling

Normal improvement in fishing conditions as the fall season moves nearer is noted in the conservation department's final angling report of the year.
Lack of fishing pressure in most areas makes it difficult to obtain an accurate appraisal of conditions, however. Some resorts have closed for the season but there are ample accommodations for those who want to spend a few days or weeks in the north now.
Cold, windy weather in some areas during the week helped cut the number of fishermen. Rains have raised water levels in some areas to give trout fishermen better results during the last few days of the season.
Waupaca county — Warden Rex Ottman: Panfishing good on Bear Lake and Manawa Mill pond. Some northern and trout hitting on Chain O'Lakes. Bass fishing fair on Waupaca river and Bear Lake.
Door county — Warden William Carriek: Bass and perch fishing very good on Green Bay waters. Also off Washington Island.
Waushara county — Warden Herb Lemke: Panfishing has improved some on a few lakes. Good catches of bluegills and perch on Big Hills and Silver. Good crappie fishing on Mount Morris lake. Good catches of northern bass and trout fishing fair to poor.
Marquette county — Warden Ralph Richardson, Ken Kazmar and Tom Albers: Trout fishing in county remains very good with many nice catches reported throughout the county. Panfishing good on most waters with bluegills taken quite successfully on worms. Bass fishing good. Northern and walleyes slow but expected to improve with cooler weather.
Lancaster county — Warden Donald Manthei and Herb Carow: All fishing should be good for remainder of the season. Pressure light. Live bait and spinning lures will take most fish.
Forest county — Warden C. W. Sundberg and R. F. Kuharsch: Panfishing fair on all lakes. Walleye fishing picking up on all lakes. Trout slow.

Number of Job Seekers Dips as School Opens

But Total Looking For Work Higher Than a Year Ago

The number of persons seeking jobs in Outagamie county through the Wisconsin State Employment service office in Appleton decreased 345 from the end of July to the end of August, according to office Manager Fred Gehrke.
The return of students to school accounted for the drop.
A total of 1,445 still had applications filed with the office, Gehrke said, compared to 1,790 at the end of July. The total at the end of August was higher than the 603 at the end of August last year.
"It appears hiring will be done for replacement only," Gehrke said. "Employers are leveling off at actual production schedules." Most requests for help are looking for women to do domestic work on a full or part-time basis, he added. The only place where the demand seems to be greater than the supply is in experienced office workers.
120 Hired
Applicants for work in August totaled 325 compared to 359 in July and 241 in August a year ago. The Appleton office referred 273 persons in non-agricultural fields to prospective employers in August. Of these, 120 were hired. This compares with 212 referrals in July with 105 hired and 342 referrals in August last year with 153 hired.
Seventy one persons were referred to agricultural employers during August and 48 seasonal workers were transferred into the county from other areas. In all, 108 placements were made in agricultural fields during the month.
The office carried 63 job listings over from July and added 194 in August. With the persons placed, 85 listings were still available Sept. 1. On Sept. 1 a year ago, the office had 153 listings.
The 120 persons placed in August were in the following categories: professional, 2; clerical and sales, 27; services, 24; skilled trades, 10; skilled labor, 40.

Write Off Sky's the Limit if Dad Picks Up Wedding Check

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: We are plain working people who are having a problem planning our daughter's wedding.

Our future son-in-law is a wonderful boy. His parents are not rich, but they are comfortable, upper-middle people. We got Ann Landers together the other night to talk about the guest list. When Mrs. X handed me the names of over 300 people I was speechless. They want these people invited to the church and to the dinner.

I told Mrs. X I had no idea they had so many relatives and "close friends". She explained that the people on the list are mainly customers.

(They own a large clothing store.)

My husband and I don't know what to do. We don't want to start off on bad terms with our daughter's in-laws, but we can't afford to invite all these people to dinner. We've kept our list down for financial reasons. Advice?—STUMPED

A wedding is a religious ceremony and should not be used as a gimmick to entertain customers.

Since you are paying for the wedding and the dinner, it's your privilege to decide how far to go. If these people are bent on exploiting the wedding as a business-booster tell them THEY can give a reception for the whole town when the couple returns from their honeymoon, if they like.

DEAR ANN: I lost my dear husband six months ago and I'm terribly depressed. We had no children and lived only for each other.

I sold my lovely home last month because I couldn't bear to live with the memories. I have a nice apartment now, but I still feel like a fish out of water. My problem is this: The daughter of a friend was recently divorced. She has two children, 10 and 12 years of age. She wants to go back to work although she doesn't need the income. The her doctor advised employment as therapy.

This young woman wants me to live in her home and be the housekeeper. I'd like this position, and it may be just what I need, too. But my sisters tell me it would be a big come-down for a woman of my fairly high social standing. May I have your opinion?—LISTLESS LAURA

One need never apologize for doing honest work. This position could offer you satisfaction and a chance to be of service. I say it's worth a try. Keep your apartment intact and take the position on a 3-month trial basis. If it doesn't work out, you haven't lost anything. A fine way to bury our troubles is to shovel someone else out of his.

DEAR ANN: I started to go with a man who works with my sister's husband. When we first were introduced he said he was divorced from his wife so I thought it was all right to date him. Now he tells me he is not divorced, just separated, but he plans to make it legal as soon as he gets enough money.

He told me he had two children. A cousin of his recently informed me that he has more than two. How can I get the straight facts on this man without getting either one of us in trouble? Is there a place that has records, like maybe a census bureau? Please help me.—WANDA

Leave this man alone. The fact that you must investigate in order to get a straight story on him should be warning enough.

And what difference does it make whether he has two children or a dozen? A man who is separated is still married until he's divorced. Find yourself a boyfriend who knows how to tell the truth. This character has more curves than the New Jersey turnpike.

Mustache Didn't Fool 'Em One Bit; Star Recognized

New York —(AP)— Steve Allen grew a mustache during a 6-week European trip this summer but it failed to serve its purpose. American tourists still recognized him.

When Allen returns to his regular spot on NBC-TV Sunday evening, his mustache will stay — for one performance. Allen will be present all season.

Next summer, he confirmed, the Allen show will move to Hollywood for its permanent home.

"I like California," he said the other day. "I like to live and work there and I've bought a home there. By next fall NBC will have studio space available and we can move the circus west."

WIN WITH HAROLD V. FROEHLICH REPUBLICAN FIRST DISTRICT ASSEMBLYMAN

In a very few hours you will choose your assemblyman to represent you in the state legislature. As you well know, this is a responsible position. You are entitled to know what your candidate for assemblyman stands for. As I view it, he should:

1. Conduct himself with dignity and in a manner that will at all times reflect credit upon your assembly district.
2. Your assemblyman should work faithfully and diligently in the public interest and not favor special interest groups.
3. He should work closely with our city and county government whose authority to legislate for the community progress and well being is conferred by legislative enactments.
4. He has a definite obligation to secure legislation that is favorable to both this area and the state in helping solve problems for the general public well being including: Highway Safety, Boating Safety, a sound State Park Program, and Efficient Government Administration.

Yes, I am the youngest candidate (26) but I am a student of government, hard-working, mature in thought and forward looking. With your help, and the cooperation and counsel of individuals and groups in Appleton, Grand Chute, and Center, the record of the 1st Assembly District in the state legislature will, I am sure, be a record of progress.

Vote for Froehlich, Tues. Sept. 9th

A substantial victory in the primary will assure a positive result in November. A personal thank you to all for your commendable effort on my behalf.

Authorized and paid for by the Citizens for Froehlich for Assembly Committee, Clara Babb Sinner, Chairman, 344 W. Washington St., Appleton, Wis.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

AP Newsfeature

Sam Walter Foss' Faith in God made him a friend of man. The journalist, humorist, librarian and poet of last century America believed that great art was created by him "who understands man, knows the heart of him, loves him above all the rest."

I talked with his daughter in Massachusetts and she remembers her father's "strong faith." A minister once hailed him as a preacher in poetry. His inspired lines of "The House by the Side of the Road" live as one of America's most popular poems:

Let me live in my house by the side of the road,
Where the race of men go by—
They are good, they are bad, they are weak,
They are strong,
Wise, foolish—so am I;
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat,
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man."

Peperomia Emerald Ripple

Indoor Gardening

Peperomia Emerald Ripple Has Colorful Leaves, Stems

By Katherine B. Walker

Peperomias are becoming as prevalent as last year's Asiatic flu, and a lot more popular.

One grower now lists 27 varieties, while another lists 12. One who only offers four obviously just isn't trying, because there are probably more than that in your local shops. Emerald Ripple (Peperomia caperata Emerald Ripple), although one of the newer sorts, has caught on quickly, and made all the catalogs this year, for which I am very glad; it is a sweet little plant, and deserves to become better known.

This non-trailing peperomia has heart-shaped leaves of deep, rich green, puckered or quilted, with the indentations showing a brownish tinge. Leaf stems are pinkish striped with red, and the flowers (peperomias are sold as foliage plants but they flower quite freely) are greenish-white catkins.

Many Varieties

In the new book "Exotica," A. B. Graf tells of good pot plants from the past and those coming up in the near future. He lists 62 varieties of peperomias that he feels are worthwhile. Although only a small portion of these are readily available now, they will be coming into the market within a year or two, so watch for them.

In the meantime, in addition to Emerald Ripples, why not try P. fraseri, noted for its mignonette-like flowers, P. incana, which grows like a true succulent and has leaves covered with white felt, or P. obtusifolia clusifolia, a slow-growing type with thick, red-margined leaves?

Peperomias like a rich, loamy soil, diffused light, and ample warmth. Be careful not to overwater peperomias; they like the soil to get moderately dry before it is thoroughly soaked, and they resent too much water all the time, or too little too often. Propagate by cuttings kept warm and shaded.

Questions and Answers

Is Flowering-maple a good house plant?
Flowering-maple (Abutilon) is a wonderful, free-flowering pot plant, and one of my favorites. Unless cut back severely from time to time, they get very large, however, and really need a sunny window all to themselves.

What is the proper name for the African Wonder bulb?
I heard the same TV program, and wondered how long it would be before someone asked this! They are Chincherliffe.

Does Bird-of-Paradise want sun or shade?
Bird-of-Paradise (Strelitzia regina) prefers sun.

Does Wandering-Jew ever flower?
Yes, indeed. In fact, some varieties are grown more for their blossoms than for the foliage.

Basilio Hammers Out Decisive KO

Fight Stopped in Eighth With Art Aragon Bloody, Reeling

Los Angeles — "Sure I wanna fight 'Sugar' Ray Robinson again — but only if the money is right," said tough little Carmen Basilio after pounding dapper Art Aragon into a bloody, reeling derelict in eight savage rounds.

Flam, Savitt Eliminated in Nationals

Tennis Semi-Finals All-Foreign for First Time

BY ED CORRIGAN
Forest Hills, N.Y. — Think U. S. tennis is in bad shape? Think no more.

It is.

Never before in the history of the national championships has the semi-final been an all-foreign affair.

Today, though, the semi-finals pitted Ashley Cooper against his Australian Davis cup teammate, Neale Fraser, and Mal Anderson, the defending champion from down under, against Ulf Schmidt of Sweden.

Close Calls
This is a tournament that started 77 years ago in Newport. There have been close calls in the past with three foreign aces in the semis. In fact, only last year, Herbie Flam was the only American able to make the penultimate round against the same three Aussie hatchet men.

This time Herbie, 30, and no longer playing seriously, was eliminated in the quarter-finals. Schmidt, an ex-U.S. indoor champion, beat him, 7-5, 8-6, 8-6, Friday.

That left it up to Dick Savitt, another part-timer on the tennis circuit these days. The former Davis cupper gave it a good try, but ran out of gas against Anderson, 18-16, 6-1, 3-6, 6-3.

Gals Are Fine
The American gals, however, have been doing all right and have the semis of their division all to themselves. It was top-seeded Althea Gibson of New York against pert Mrs. Beverly Fleitz of Long Beach, Calif., and Jeanne Arth of St. Paul against Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif.

Miss Gibson, the defending champion, and Mrs. Fleitz got rid of the last two foreign threats Friday. Miss Gibson ousted towering Christine Truman of Britain 11-9, 6-1, and Mrs. Fleitz dropped Maria Ester Bueno of Brazil, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Gibson, on her record, was the choice over Mrs. Fleitz, while Miss Hard, a semi-finalist last year, was the favorite over Miss Arth, who never has progressed this far before.

Foxes, Jays Meet Tonight In Twin Bill

Three-I Club To Play LC-K Sunday Evening

Rained out at Green Bay Friday night, the Fox Cities Foxes meet the Bluejays in a doubleheader tonight, starting at 5 o'clock.

The Foxes are to wind up their Three-I league season with a single game at Green Bay beginning at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Then, the Foxes will meet the Little Chute - Kimberly club of the Fox River Valley amateur league at 8 o'clock Sunday night at Goodland field in an exhibition game.

(That tilt had originally been scheduled for Sunday afternoon with the Three-I league finale Sunday night). If Sunday afternoon's game has to be postponed because of rain it will be played Sunday night in Green Bay with the exhibition contest between the Foxes and LC-K cancelled.

Forces Delay
Rain forced a delay of the Cedar Rapids - Davenport showdown series in the Three-I league Friday night and the Braves probably wouldn't care if it was too wet to play again tonight. The rest of the schedule also was rained out.

The only way Davenport, first half champion, can catch up in the overall standings is to sweep all three games with Cedar Rapids in their season windup.

The teams will meet in a doubleheader at the Day-Sox park tonight if weather permits. But if it rains, the $2,000 top prize will go to Cedar Rapids, which has a 74-53 overall mark to Davenport's 71-55. If all three games are played and the Davsox make a sweep, they would finish 74-55 to the Braves' 74-56.

However, one victory, or another rainout, is all Cedar Rapids needs.

Los Angeles Gets Just Three Hits Off Mizell

(From AP Dispatches)
The Los Angeles Dodgers were held to just three hits but defeated St. Louis, 2-1, in the National league Friday.

In other action Pittsburgh shaded Milwaukee, 1-0, and Cincinnati rapped Philadelphia, 8-4.

The Dodgers got all their hits in the second inning off loser Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell. Fred Kipp (6-4) won it with relief help, giving up the run in the second on three of the Cards' seven hits and an infield out.

Don Newcombe (6-11) won his fourth in a row, giving up nine of the Phils' dozen hits and beating Robin Roberts (14-13) for the second time in five days with Brooks Lawrence's relief help.

Expect 30,000 to See Packers Play Giants In Boston Tonight

Vice President Nixon May Attend Agganis Fund Benefit Game; New York 7-Point Pick

Boston — The Packers battle the Giants in the third non-leaguer of the training season for the 'Bays and the fourth for New York in old Braves field tonight.

It will be a benefit for the Harry Agganis fund for needy children — in honor of the former Boston Red Sox and Boston college star who died several years ago after only a few years of competition.

Kickoff is set for 7 o'clock, Green Bay time, and the folks in Packerland can pick it up on radio. The Giants are 7-point favorites.

Vice President Richard Nixon is expected to be among the 30,000 spectators at the game. Cool temperatures and

Antigo Stops Waupaca, 12-6

Larkee Passes To Daniels For Lone Score

Waupaca — Antigo stopped Waupaca, 12-6, in a wet, muddy exhibition football game here Friday night which opened the season for the Comets.

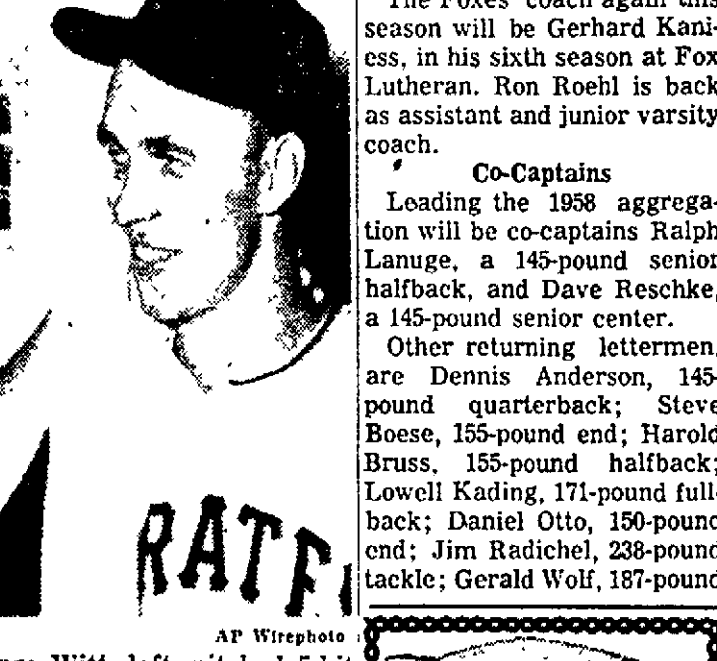

Both of the winners' scores came in the second quarter.

Waupaca's lone tally came at the beginning of the final quarter when, after an alternating passing and running attack starting at the Comet 23, halfback Allen Larkee threw a 30-yard pass to right end Jim Danielson in the end zone. Larkee's 15-yard line run earlier highlighted the march.

Antigo scored its first TD after intercepting a 'Paca pass on its own 16. After a series of short line dives, right end Ken Krueger lugged the ball over from the 4.

The second score came when halfback Gary Piller ripped off a 20-yard sprint around right end after the winners picked the ball up on their 35.

Fullback Charles Pufahl and Larkee carried the ball most of the time for the Comets' score, a heavy rain reduced the pace to almost a walk.

Right-Handed Rookie George Witt, left, pitched 5-hit ball and Bill Virdon, right, belted a tenth-inning home run Friday night to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 1-0 victory over the National league - leading Milwaukee Braves. Witt, 24, became the first pitcher to hang a pair of shutouts on the Braves this season. He now has 19 consecutive scoreless innings against the Milwaukeeans.

Pirates Win On Virdon's Homer, 1-0

By The Associated Press
The Milwaukee Braves may have run away with the National league pennant, but they're getting no where fast against rookie right-hander George Witt of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The champs have had two run-ins with the kid from Laguna Beach, Calif., and haven't scored a run off him yet.

Witt, 24, became the first to hang two shutouts on the Braves this season, by beating Milwaukee, 1-0, Friday night with a 5-hitter and Bill Virdon's leadoff home run in the tenth inning.

Witt's only other work against the Braves was a 2-hit, 10-0 shutout August 12.

Back Into Tie
By out-scraping Carl Willey, Witt hoisted the Bucs back into a second place tie with San Francisco, 8½ games behind the Braves. The Giants were idled by rain at Chicago.

Pitching for the first time in nine days because of an inflamed elbow, Witt walked four and struck out three, fanning Willey for all of them. Willey (9-5), who gave seven hits and walked four but left nine on base, struck out five, whiffing Witt four times.

A high fly ball, hit over the closest fence in the Pirate park was the ninth homer of the year for Virdon. The ball traveled only 300 guard; Dick Suelflow, 162-pound fullback.

Ten lettermen are among 39 candidates for the club which started practice Aug. 25. Six lettermen on a club which won three of seven games last season will not be back, having used up their eligibility.

All are seniors and all but Suelflow were regulars last season.

Strong Candidates
Two transfers, Emro Plamann from Seymour high and Ralph Sternhagen from Wisconsin Junior high are strong candidates for the fullback and left tackle jobs, respectively.

David Pingel, Bob Luebke, Tom Wolslegel and Arvin Klomp, all up from the Fox Lutheran JV's, are pressing some of the seniors for starting assignments.

The Foxes have new uniforms for their 8-game schedule, silver pants and jerseys with maroon trim. The schedule follows:
Sept. 13—at Wisconsin Lutheran 7:30
Sept. 19—Coleman 8:00
Sept. 26—at Chilton 8:00
Oct. 4—at Pacelli 8:00

(Home games at Goodland field)

Righthander Bob Schmidt Has been a consistent winner for the Little Chute-Kimberly Fox River Valley Amateur league entry this season. Schmidt or another righthander, Al Harke, are on deck for the starting assignment against the Menasha Macs in the second game of the best-of-3 playoff for the FRV title at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Little Chute. The LC-K nine is slated to meet the Fox Cities Foxes at 8 o'clock Sunday night at Goodland field.

Macs Meet LC-K Nine

Second Game in Best-of-Three Playoff Set for Sunday Afternoon At Little Chute Diamond

The Little Chute-Kimberly Fox River Valley league club has 18 innings of baseball on tap for Sunday, the first nine of which may decide the Fox River Valley Amateur league championship.

After LC-K takes on the Menasha Macs at 2 o'clock in Little Chute in the second game of a best-of-3 playoff series, it has an exhibition game with the professional Fox Cities Foxes Sunday night in Goodland field.

The combination team will be seeking revenge, in the second game, for a 4-2 setback administered by the Foxes several weeks ago.

Righthander Al Harke and righthander Bob Schmidt will decide the hurling assignments Sunday. Harke, who has beaten the Macs twice in a row, is likely to get the starting call against them. Schmidt allowed the Foxes just nine hits in a 4-2 loss.

LC-K copped the first game of the playoff series, 8-7, at Menasha last Sunday. The winners scored seven unearned runs as the Macs erred five times, Harke was touched for 12 hits, three more than his teammates collected.

Menasha has beaten LC-K just once in four starts with lefthander Mort Drury the winner and Harke the loser in that one. Schmidt is 1-0 against the Menashans.

Either Drury or Gene Gries, another southpaw, will hurl Sunday. Gries is 0-1 vs. Sunday's hosts.

Kimberly-Little Chute has won 29 of 33 starts, losing only to the Macs and Oshkosh of the FRV loop, Highway Beers of Milwaukee in 10 innings in the state semi-pro tournament and the Foxes. Since the set-back to Oshkosh the Paper-makers have gained revenge with two straight victories.

If the Macs win Sunday afternoon a third game will be slated for the park of the club which drew the largest crowd in the first two games of the playoff. The contest would be played a week from Sunday.

Badgers Have Best Workout, Bruhn Smiles

Madison — After several days of grumbling about ragged play, Wisconsin football Coach Milt Bruhn grinned Friday after his Badgers completed what he called "by far the best drill to date."

"The boys seemed to be in top shape and they were not puffing like they have been when we called a halt to things," Bruhn said. "I was especially pleased by the accomplishments of the linemen. It was a good workout for them."

The Badgers brought smiles to the coach's face with their work in a 20-minute controlled passing drill. Quarterbacks Dale Hackbart and Sid Williams consistently hit their 1500 meters, 3:36 and 3:37.4, targets despite rain and a wet in track history. Ten times this year he has been under a full-tilt scrimmage was planned for today.

MU's Hall Sharp In Unexpectedly Rugged Workout

Milwaukee — In his best showing to date, junior quarterback Pete Hall tossed a rain-soaked ball for two touchdown passes as the Marquette football squad bumped through an unexpectedly rough workout Friday.

Hall hit end Si Woods and halfback Frank Mestnik on a couple of 40-yard touchdown aeriels. His ball handling and signal calling also were sharp.

Coach Johnny Druze hailed the running of fullback Ron Fieber and the line play of Ron Dulak and Lou Casto, converted to guard from halfback.

Phoenix Clinches Coast Loop Title

Phoenix, Ariz. — The Phoenix Giants clinched the Pacific Coast league baseball pennant Friday night with a homer-studded 10-8 victory over Vancouver. The Giants' total for the year to 200.

The Giants led the second-place San Diego Padres 34 games with only 3 left for each to play. San Diego also won Friday night, defeating Salt Lake City 16-4.

Fargo-Moorhead Wins Northern League's Playoff Championship

Fargo, N. D. — Piling up eight runs without a hit in the seventh inning, the Fargo-Moorhead Twins Friday night won the Northern League playoff championship with a 10-1 swamping of the St. Cloud Rox; pennant winners at close of regulation play.

St. Cloud won the opener of the best-of-three final series but the Twins copped the next two. It was the sixth time a runnerup has taken final loop honors, with the flag-takers prevailing the other nine years.

The victors landed on four St. Cloud hurlers in the wild seventh with the eight tallies coming on 10 walks, a wild throw and sacrifice fly before the fire was put out by Ron Perry.

Duane Kinart went the distance for Fargo-Moorhead with a 3-hitter.

Expect 30,000 to See Packers Play Giants

pected to be among the 30,000 spectators at the game.

Cool temperatures and clear skies are predicted for the clash.

Short End

The Packers were on the short end of the odds when the teams met here last year. Defending champions at the time, the Giants quickly built up a 10-0 lead but the Packers came back to take a 13-10 victory.

With Hornung at least limited, Howie Ferguson will have another chance to strengthen his bid for the starting fullback assignment.

"Ferguson always has been a steady player with the Packers," said McLean. "But this year he appears to have more drive. I hope he keeps it up. He'll be tough for Hornung or any other fullback in the league."

In the Eagles' game, Ferguson picked up 44 yards in 12 carries and threw a pass that set up a touchdown. His return to form followed surgery during the winter for injured knees.

There is also a spirited competition between Babe Parilli and Bart Starr for the starting quarterback role. But McLean said they will have to give way at least a quarter to rookie Joe Francis who may also get a turn at defensive halfback.

The Giants, seeking to regain first place in the Eastern conference, will also be experimenting. One of the tests has halfback Alex Webster at fullback in a duel with Mel Triplett.

If the experiment is a success, rookie Phil King of Vanderbilt may take over the halfback spot opposite versatile Frank Gifford, back for another season.

Quarterback for the Giants will be Don Heinrich and veteran Charley Conerly with Tom Dubinski as reinforcement.

Bill Daniel, Jr., fired a 36 for low gross honors in the Riverview Country club Men's Twilight Golf league's latest edition.

Bill McGraw shot a 37 and Joe Schulenburg and Lee Barlament 38s. Prize winners, for low net twosome, were: Bob Boon and Wes Kaulum, Len Pasek and Mark Catlin, and Lee Barlament and Ed Woody.

The Wells added 31 points to its league lead and now has 379 to 367½ bulge over Orleans.

Rain Doesn't Keep Away Young Crowd

Today's Schedule For Waupaca Fair Includes Racing

Weyauwega — Rain failed to dampen the spirits of Waupaca county small fry who turned out in a surprisingly large number to take advantage of youth day Friday at the Waupaca county fair at the Weyauwega fairgrounds.

The rain did cause the cancellation of the afternoon grandstand performance and plans for the crowning of the Waupaca county honey queen. Judging, however, was carried on as scheduled.

Friday night's grandstand attraction, the WLS Barn Dance stars featuring Homer and Jethro, was transferred to the 4-H tent. The tent was the scene of the honey queen crowning late this morning.

Saturday Schedule
Harness racing is scheduled for today. The Manawa High school band will play concerts before the grandstand both in the afternoon and evening.

Other attractions today will be the judging of beef and dairy cattle, 4-H demonstrations and the evening grandstand performance, an auto thrill show.

Sunday's fair attractions will include the tractor operator's contest, more 4-H demonstrations, concerts by the Weyauwega High school band, 8 heats of harness racing, the 4-H dress revue and the Venita Rich talent contest show.

Too Soon for Vaccine

Royalton Man Ending 6-Year Seige of Polio

Royalton — Polio vaccine came a few years too late for Roy Thomack.

The 28-year-old Royalton man has been fighting paralytic bulbar polio for six years. For most of that time, he has been confined to hospitals, an iron lung and a rocking bed. But now he's sometimes out of his swaying bed and walking around outdoors.

Son Stricken First
It's the culmination of a long pull that started in September of the pre-vaccine year 1952, when the Thomacks' 5-week-old son, Ronald, came down with polio.

Within a week, Thomack, then working on a farm near Neenah, and his wife, Karla, were stricken with the disease.

Stays at Theda Clark hospital in Neenah did the trick for Mrs. Thomack and Ronald, who recovered completely from partial paralysis. But Thomack didn't improve at the Neenah hospital and by Thanksgiving, 1952, he had to be moved to Wisconsin General hospital in Madison. That began a 7-month stint of treatment there while Mrs. Thomack worked as a maid in a Madison home to help with her husband's hospital bills.

Help for the family came from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which provided an iron lung and rocking bed for Thomack and took charge of moving him back to his Royalton home. He made the homecoming trip the Fourth of July, 1953, in an ambulance equipped with oxygen tanks, followed by a truck carrying the lung and bed.

The Thomacks' financial burden has been lightened by the Winnebago and Waupaca county chapters of the foundation.

Hospital Stays
In the five years since his return to Royalton, Thomack has been in and out of area hospitals and living almost helpless in the iron lung for long periods of time. But there were bright spots, one of them the birth of a second son in May, 1954.

For the past year, Thomack's once discouraging polio condition has been changing for the better and he has been out of his iron lung and rocking bed for increasingly longer periods of time.

Now, the polio victim is slowly regaining the use of his legs and a long struggle with paralysis is showing signs of drawing to a close.

$17,450 Discount

County Must Approve $500,000 Bond Sale for High Bridge Share

Outagamie county board members Monday will be asked to approve the sale of $500,000 in bonds for the county's share in the College-to-Candee high level bridge for $482,550.

The $17,450 discount on the bonds represents an increase in the 3 per cent coupon interest on the bonds to a net interest cost of 3.323 per cent. The bonds mature in 20 years and are in $1,000 denominations.

The sale attracted no bidders, so the county offered the bonds at a private sale Friday under a little-used section of state law. The procedure was caused by a weakening of the municipal bond market in the last few months, officials indicated.

The bonds were negotiated with a 3-firm syndicate composed of Halsey, Stuart and Company, Inc., Rodman and Renshaw and Burns, Corbett and Pickard, Inc.

Needs Approval
The transaction is not official until approved by the county board and okayed by the attorney general and the county's legal advisors on the bond issue.

The county's share of the $1.8 million bridge is $600,000, with $482,550 from the bond issue and $115,000 in matured bonds once floated for the

The board's airport committee in July asked for and got $7,500 for improvements, informing the board the work

WSCS Circles Plan Events

Candy Sale, Public Dinner Among Dates On Project Agenda

New London — Plans for a variety of activities from selling candy to sponsoring a public supper were discussed by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church Thursday night at the church parlors.

The Evening circle announced plans for a candy sale and the Mary circle will sponsor a public supper Tuesday, Sept. 30, with Mrs. A. W. Kuehlman, chairman of arrangements.

The Mary circle will sell rubber scrubbers and Christmas card sales will be under the direction of Mrs. Sally Wilke. Members also voted a donation to the State Church Youth program.

It was announced that a W. S. C. S. Appleton district meeting will be held Oct. 9 at Kaukauna. Reservations must be made by Oct. 3 with Mrs. Sylvester Larson.

Reservations for the Waupaca County Federation of Church Women meeting Sept. 27 at the Royalton Congregational church are being handled by Mrs. Arthur Ritchie and Mrs. Larson.

Mrs. Henry Christensen had charge of the worship and Mrs. L. K. Thomas and Mrs. Kuehlman presented the program.

The general meeting will be in October with Mrs. Frank Finger in charge of the program and Mrs. Warren Ullman in charge of the worship.

would cost about $6,500 and the extra $1,000 was in case the cost ran over informal estimates.

About the middle of last month, the committee found its proposed 16 by 40-foot terminal building would cost about $6,000 or more instead of the $4,000 it had estimated. Currently the committee is considering a steel set-up type building and believes this would bring the cost down considerably. However, the committee indicates it will need about another $1,000 to do the work.

Work to be done before air service starts includes the terminal building (the size of which has been increased to 20 by 40-feet), sealing a gravel apron in front of the present airport administration office, installing a wire fence around the passenger loading area, installing a vertical ceiling light and constructing several paved walks.

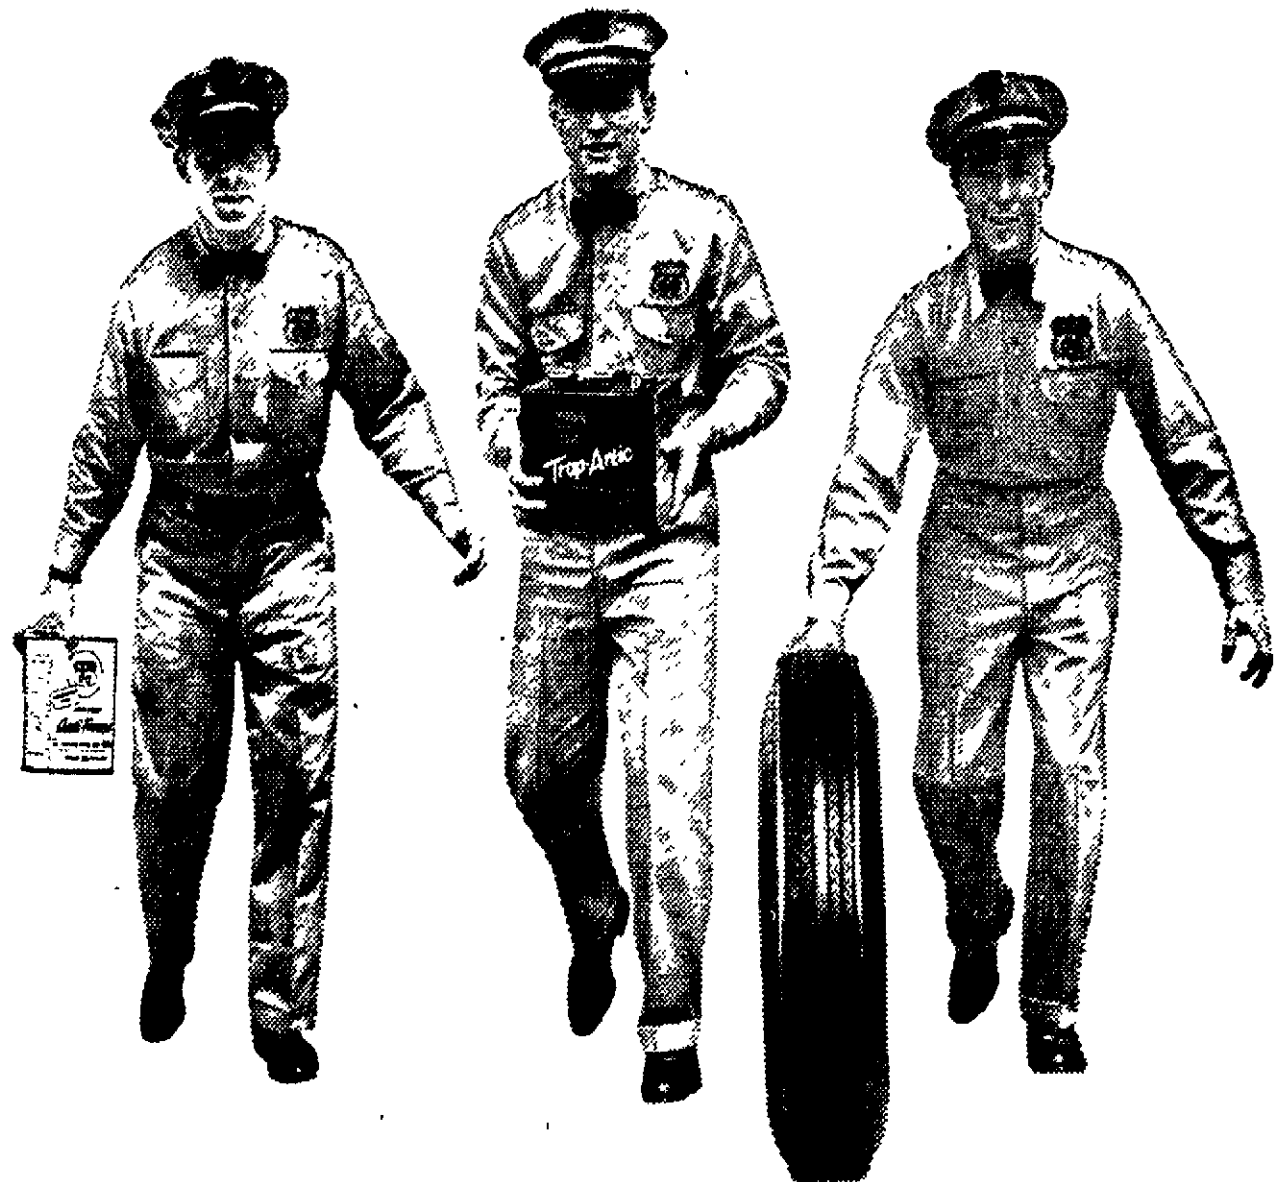

At present, committee members indicate there is no sign of when the civil aeronautics board will issue an order for air service for Appleton. Even if the order is issued, the city must wait 60 days for it to begin, since that is the time given the airline (North Central) to comply with the order.

The board also will be asked to approve the erection of a permanent building to house a university of Wisconsin extension center. The building would not be built until the university indicated that it would begin and continue instruction in such a building. The Winnebago county board has favored a similar proposal, since the building apparently would be a joint effort and quite possibly would be built in Winnebago county, it has been indicated.

2 Persons Hurt In Menasha Crash

Menasha — Two persons were slightly injured and four cars damaged in two separate accidents Friday evening.

At 8:53 cars driven by Raymond H. Schumacher, 19, route 1, Kaukauna, and Joseph J. Scheller, 65, 513 Isabella street, Neenah, collided at the intersection of Third and Milwaukee streets.

Scheller and his wife Emma, a passenger, were taken to Theda Clark hospital by the Neenah ambulance. Scheller suffered a broken rib and Mrs. Scheller, a bruised right side.

At 10:26 a car driven by Leland L. Neubauer, 41, 729 Jefferson street, hit a parked car owned by Joseph Franczek, 39, route 2, Menasha, in the 300 block of Racine street.

The other is being distributed in a house-to-house campaign sponsored by the board of education and the special citizens committee which studied the city's junior high school problem. It urges voters to approve a new 750-pupil school rather than a new 400-pupil school and the remodeling of the present facilities.

Author, Sponsor Unnamed

Neither contains a line indicating the author and circulator of the literature, as is required by state statutes.

Steinhilber told the Post-Crescent Friday night that the Chamber of Commerce flyer seems to be in direct violation of the law since it does not mention the author or sponsor in any way.

The school referendum literature, while still in literal violation of the law, does identify the sponsors by saying "The citizens committee and the board of education recommend that you vote for proposal B costing $956,000."

Same in Referendums

An attorney general's ruling, Steinhilber said, holds that the statute applies to referendums, even though there is no candidate.

Don Garlock, chairman of the chamber's Neenah planning committee, said the required line was "not thought of at the time we were trying to rush this to the printer."

He said that the handbills had been paid for by voluntary contributions of local businessmen, not the chamber or members of his committee.

Paul Groth, president of the board of education, said he didn't think such a notice was needed since no funds were solicited or paid for the handbills. It is understood that a local paper company printed them without charge.

Winners of the Twin City Jaycee Junior Tennis tournament and the Jaycee sponsored Twin City Golf tournament will be honored and will receive their awards at the same meeting.

of Chicago, was rated one of the country's top 10 tennis players for 20 years. He won his national singles titles in 1944 and 1945, and was runner-up in 1947. In 1943 he and Jack Kramer were national doubles titlists.

Three FVCC Teams Launch '58 Schedules

St. Norbert Vies With Rapids; Fondy Faces Wausau '11'

Menasha — Three Fox Valley Catholic conference football teams will open play with non-conference games this weekend.

In addition to St. Mary, which faces Don Bosco of Milwaukee at 8 o'clock at Butte des Morts field, other Catholic league entries in action will be Fond du Lac Springs and St. Norbert.

Springs, coached by Lou Yugovich, will vie with Wausau Newman on the latter's gridiron while St. Norbert, coached for the second year by Pat Wright, debuts Sunday afternoon at Wisconsin Rapids Assumption.

The Springers opened their practice season with 14 lettermen but received a blow earlier this week when quarterback Ron Wagner, regular signal caller last season, decided to give up football.

The two teams battled to a 13-13 tie last year. St. Mary meets both squads later in the season.

St. Norbert was hit harder than any other conference school through graduation. The whole line was depleted of veterans and only returnees include Don Dahlke, Clair McQuestion and Dave Rhodes backs.

St. John of Little Chute opens its schedule next weekend against Kimberly while the who saw action for the Zephyr-Marquette Lourdes slate hasn't been announced.

Green Bay Premontré, a return conference member which plays an independent grid. Menashans include Joe schedule, opens play next Thursday night against West Green Bay.

Zephyrs Meet Bosco Eleven for 2nd Time

2nd Half Thrusts Gave Dons Win in Initial Meeting

Menasha — Tonight's football meeting between St. Mary and Don Bosco at Butte des Morts field will be the second in history between the two squads. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

The two clubs faced each other on the gridiron for the first time last Sept. 8 at South stadium in Milwaukee and Bosco emerged with a 12-0 win.

The Zephyrs held their Milwaukee foe to a scoreless tie at halftime but the latter scored single touchdowns in the third and fourth periods on two sudden thrusts.

Rushing Edge — The Menashans held at 56-25 rushing advantage in the first half but were held to a minus three yards in the second while Bosco made 115. The Zephyrs were held to two first downs, both in the first half.

Bosco scored on a two-yard plunge after a 44-yard pass in the third period and on a 72-yard run by John Barczak in the fourth. Barczak died of an injury received in practice later in the season.

Twelve of the 19 players who saw action for the Zephyrs will be back in action tonight while only four Dons

List Returnees — Menashans include Joe Rechner and Bob Vanden Heuvel, ends; Fran Voissem, Tom Makofski, Dick Arndt

Texas Ranger's Fast Pistol Draw Backfires

Fort Worth, Texas — Texas Ranger Buddy Hendricks is a quick man with a gun . . . too quick.

He went to a party for law enforcement officers yesterday and borrowed a pistol to do a little target shooting.

His hand flashed to the holster in the best tradition. Then, bang, Hendricks shot himself in the right calf.

"This'll teach me to use someone else's gun," the red-faced ranger said, explaining that the sight hung in the holster.

Burglary Victim Thief Himself, Police Find

Detroit — Two strong arm robbers beating up James Hill, 22, on a Detroit street were captured in the act. They were booked on a charge of unarmed robbery.

Detectives who questioned Hill about what he was doing on the street at 2:30 a.m. said he admitted having just burglarized an apartment. He was booked on a charge of breaking and entering.

Democrats Will Watch Attorney General Race

Party Primary May Decide How Their Candidates Will Stand on Sales Tax Issue

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Politicians will study the results of the balloting in the contest for the Democratic nomination for attorney general Tuesday with more interest than is usually accorded the office.

To Democratic campaign strategists especially, the contest between Christ Seraphim of Milwaukee and John Reynolds of Green Bay for the Democratic nomination will give the answers to two provocative questions:

Labor Potency
1. The potency of a state labor endorsement in a Democratic nomination fight.

2. Whether the sales tax as a campaign weapon retains the value that Democrats have assumed for it in recent years.

Seraphim is campaigning with the formal blessing of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO organization, having been endorsed at its summer convention.

Reynolds has been trying to counteract the value of the endorsement by campaigning on an anti-sales tax plan. He has assumed that his position may neutralize the organized labor forces and give him a fair break with Seraphim in the labor strongholds in the state — especially in Milwaukee and other centers of industry.

He has insisted upon the position in spite of some criticism and ridicule and reminders that the office of attorney general is an administrative one that has no relation to the making of state tax policy.

Follows Lead

In that campaign strategy he has followed the lead of other Democratic campaign-ers of recent times, including Sen. William Proxmire who has repeatedly ascribed his own political success to his own 6-year campaign of the state against the sales tax which he has claimed Republicans would impose upon Wisconsin.

If Reynolds wins, his campaign strategy will be noted carefully by other Democrats.

Drive-in Market Opens in Texas

Linden, N.J. — A drive-in supermarket opened today. Customers can phone their orders and then pick them up at a window. Small orders will be filled while you wait.

The operators of the store, Larry and Joseph Di-Leo say they got the idea from drive-in banks.

If the idea catches on, the brothers plan to operate their parking lot like a drive-in restaurant — with grocery girls waiting on customers.

The Di Leos see their store as a great boon for mothers with young children, housewives who don't want to dress up to go shopping, and for husbands who can leave the grocery list on their way to work and pick it up going home.

Montgomery Ward Net Income Down Despite Sales Rise

Chicago — Montgomery Ward and company's net income in the six months ended July 31 slipped some 20 percent from a year ago but a more favorable comparison is possible during the second half, John A. Barr, chairman, said in the 6-month report.

Sales in the first half of fiscal 1959 climbed slightly from the same period a year ago.

Net income in the first fiscal half was $8,638,488 or 62 cents a share, compared with $10,761,637 or 77 cents a share a year earlier. Sales totaled $471,921,679, up from $466,005,320.

Standard-bearers, including Sen. Gaylord Nelson of Madison, the Democratic candidate for governor.

Nelson has said he is opposed to the sales tax, when asked about it, but he has not campaigned on the theme. He has said he is likely to alter the Nelson strategy in the final phases of the election campaign before the November balloting.

Propose Ban on Chicago Area Park Visitors

State Senator Asks Laws to Keep Out 'Freeloaders'

Madison — A legislative action to prevent Chicago area visitors from using southeastern Wisconsin public parks and beaches on summer weekends was proposed Thursday by State Sen. William Trinke, Lake Geneva Republican.

"I see no reason why we can't have administrative rules to keep these people off the lakes on weekends the same as we keep trucks off many of our highways on summer weekends," Trinke said.

He made the proposal to the legislative council's committee on boating, of which he is chairman.

Bar 'Freeloaders'
Trinke said he wanted to bar "the Chicago freeloaders" off several lakes in the area by giving the state conservation department the necessary authority to adopt rules providing a weekend ban. Other committee members opposed his suggestions.

Assemblyman Robert Huber, West Allis Democrat, said, however, that "we won't get anywhere calling these people names."

Huber suggested canvassing other states to see how they handle recreation problems that arise when facilities are located close to large cities.

Judge David Willis of Green Lake said he was against Trinke's proposal because the boating committee "can't enact water laws to solve land problems."

Boat Measures

The committee agreed that legislation should be recommended providing for registration of power boats and for some type of inspection. It also rejected a proposed boat operator's licensing law and approved a proposal to require all boat operators under 12 to have adult supervision aboard.

The items recommended by the committee will be considered again in bill form.

Besieged Area In Indonesia Obeys Curfew

Balige, Indonesia — What is it like to live in a besieged Indonesian town?

The curfew in Balige begins at 8 o'clock every night, and the gunfire across the river cracks out about 9.

The high schools are half empty, the two movie houses are closed, there is no newspaper, and mail deliveries are few and far between.

Balige is a city of 33,000, huddled under the mountains on the edge of Lake Toba, deep in rebellious North Sumatra. It is one of five towns held by the government across Tapanuli province. The rebel lines begin within sight of the city limits.

"We are quite safe here—the rebels haven't tried to take the town—but we don't feel secure," said a young housewife, a baby slung from her side.

She watched the empty Red Cross ambulance, a converted bus, roll down the street.

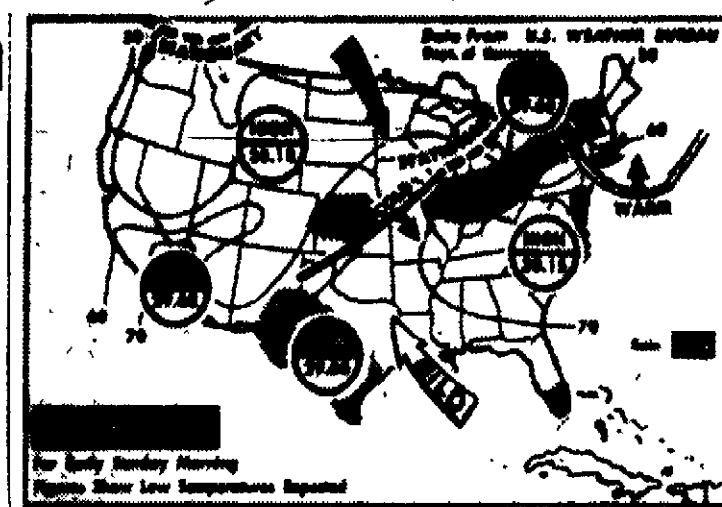

"Balige is no fun any more," she said.

"Things are getting worse," a farmer explained. "We can't send our rice to Medan. We have to store it up, and prices here are very high."

"Half the boys from school have joined the rebel army, and seven or eight girls have gone to fight with them," said a pigtailed student. "At night we have to sit inside and play cards, and there are no more picnics because we can't go outside the town."

"The high school kids think it's a big adventure to go with the rebels. They get a gun — that makes them feel important—and they make 30 rupiahs every time they go on patrol," a government soldier said.

"I'd go with the rebels myself—they are my people and many are my friends—but I can't leave my family," he added. The local loyalist troops like himself have been disarmed by their own commanders, he said. He carried only a flashlight.

Fade Away Sad, but True, Colorful Street Names Disappearing

Two old, colorful Fox Cities street names disappeared this week when Grand Chute completed renaming many of the town's streets.

Poker Flat road, west of Appleton off Highway 10, was renamed Gillett street. Mike's road in the same area, was rechristened Casaloma drive.

Town Chairman Arthur Lecker said property owners asked for the changes, expressing a desire for more dignified titles.

Three streets — Van Camp road, County Trunk JJ within the town and Underhill road — have undergone two name changes since Aug. 6. The board originally changed the names of all three to Underhill drive. The name was changed again Thursday night when someone reported there were no hills on any of the three thoroughfares. The new home is Edgewood drive.

Other changes Thursday night included Third avenue to Capitol drive. Badger school road to Bluemound drive and Hilda street to Pine street.

Several other street names were changed last month to eliminate confusion with similarly named streets in Appleton.

Actress Asserts She Belonged Innocently To Red Organization

Washington — Actress Olivia Dehavilland says she belonged innocently to a Hollywood red front organization in the 1940s, but quit when she realized its communist nature.

"Three months later the organization went out of existence, and I think I had a great deal to do with it," she testified.

The actress told her story to the house committee on un-American activities last June 16. The committee made the testimony public yesterday after the Los Angeles Herald-Express published portions of it.

In Paris, Miss Dehavilland commented that the hearing "was just a formality in connection with the extension of my citizenship."

St. Regis Paper Hikes Holdings in Growers

New York — St. Regis Paper company announced that it now holds more than 90 percent of the capital stock of Growers Container corporation of Salinas, Calif.

St. Regis said its offer to exchange one share of St. Regis stock for each 18 shares of Growers stock had resulted in about 60 percent of Growers outstanding shares being deposited. St. Regis already had about 31 percent of the California firm's shares, before the offer.

.97 Inches of Rain Fell in Fox Cities

The intermittent precipitation that ended in a heavy downpour Friday brought .97 inches of rain to the Fox Cities, according to the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company's weather post.

The rain was a part of a thundershower pocket that covered the midwest bringing unofficial reports of up to 5 inches of rain in west central Iowa and caused a minor flooding in the upper reaches of the Nismabotna river.

The forecasters figure the rain conditions will continue, until this evening when the skies are expected to clear for a bright, cool Sunday.

The rain started in the Fox Cities around noon Friday and tapered off to drizzle by 2:55. At 10:10 Friday night a downpour accompanied by thunder and lightning started and ended about 10:30 when the drizzle returned until 1:30 this morning.

The northwestern part of the state took the brunt of Friday's rain. Grantsburg reported 2.26 inches. Wisconsin Rapids, 2.24.

The high temperature in the Fox Cities was 70 Friday. The state highs ranged from Beloit's 78 to Superior's 55. The Fox Cities low was 63. Superior had a 50 low and Beloit a 70.

15-Year-Olds Enter Building, Drop Into Waiting Police Arms

Two 15-year-old boys dropped into the arms of waiting police about 9 o'clock during a burglary attempt.

The boys entered the Joseph J. Plank and Company building at 524 N. Clark street by putting a ladder against the building, climbing up, pulling the ladder up after them and crawling through an open window. They removed their shoes before entering the building and found two policemen below the window.

Town Will Pay Bills Owed by School District

But Grand Chute Won't Give Appleton Complete Tax Levy

The Grand Chute town board has instructed Clerk Leslie Woldt to pay Appleton $6,747.27 in tuition bills owed by former non-operating School District 1.

District 1 was attached to the city last fall by the Outagamie county school committee. Appleton appealed the action but the school committee's ruling was upheld in circuit court.

While court action was pending the city levied a $12,682.11 school tax against the district. Grand Chute collected the tax, but has held the money pending the court's decision.

The town claims the city's appeal stayed the attachment order and the district remained part of Grand Chute until the court decided the case.

County Supt. Henry J. Van Straten advised the town that any tax levy during the appeal period was illegal.

Acting on Van Straten's advice, the board Tuesday night told Woldt to ask the Appleton board of education for a statement of District tuition bills owed the city.

Woldt was told the bills amounted to $6,747.27. The total includes back tuition, $1,723.80; 1957-58 elementary school tuition, $2,818.38 and 1957-58 high school tuition, $2,004.09.

Grand Chute plans to subtract the tuition total from the tax levy, leaving $5,934.84. A total of $1,450 will be paid to the district 4 for tuition owed by District 1. A total of $342.75

Jailed for Beating

Vernon Ferron, 24, route 2 West DePere, was sentenced to six months in the Outagamie county jail Friday for beating his wife at their home during a family argument Monday.

City Clerk Elden Broehm has said he assumes Grand Chute still owes the full District 1 tax levy.

City Atty. Don Jury said to day he hopes to have the city's opinion on the town's action sometime Monday.

Advance Red Feather Drive Begins Monday

General Campaign Scheduled to Start Later in Month; Goal Is $136,132

Workers in the 1958 Appleton Community Fund campaign will begin advance solicitations toward the $136,132 goal Monday. General solicitations, however, won't begin for several weeks, it has been announced by Douglass Mann, campaign chairman.

The general campaign is scheduled to begin Monday, Sept. 29, and the residential drive, as in the past, will begin Monday, Oct. 13, in an effort to contact people not covered by other divisions.

The goal, Mann said, represents minimum funds needed for the eight Red Feather agencies to maintain their current level of operation during 1959. During the current year, three new agency workers were added to bring under-staffed agencies up to full strength.

The chairman also announced goals for each of the campaign divisions:

Division Goals

Pace-setters, Ed Woody and Andre Pertain, chairmen, $51,963; employee payroll deduction, Ed Pfefferle and Jack Fumal, $33,991; mercantile, Arthur Diedrich, $6,643; residential, Mrs. George Narovec, Mrs. Stanley Kupfer, Mrs. Lloyd Lee, $13,616; finance and insurance, John Gall and John Steudel, $9,367; professions, John Barlow, $4,986.

Diversified business, Jerome Cayen and Paul Vardenberg, $3,680; building trades, Gerald Hoffmann, $3,587; special gifts, Sydney Dutcher, $2,077; public schools, Frank Comella, $2,521; public employees, Mayor Clarence Mitchell, $1,033; service agencies, Mrs. John Guyette, $498; clubs, Mrs. Charles Dostal, $604; and business - employee unit, Richard Van Sistine, $1,814.

Largest on Record The campaign office is preparing for the largest fund campaign in its record, Mann noted, and said supplies are over double the amount used three years ago. He stated anyone wishing to volunteer for the drive may contact the office.

THINK . . . VOTE for MINK

Mr and Mrs Voter Outagamie County Wisconsin

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Voter:

As you know, on September 9th we shall choose our new District Attorney for Outagamie County. Our county must have a full-time, hard working District Attorney who has the experience of a practicing attorney and the investigative knowledge necessary to assure us of capable representation. We feel that Allan L. Mink is the candidate who best qualifies for this important office.

Mr. Mink, who is a resident of Appleton, is the only candidate who is engaged in the private practice of law. Allan L. Mink was a trained investigator for Army Intelligence during the Korean War, and has worked closely with numerous state, local and federal enforcement agencies. He is familiar with our county and is active in numerous civic and charitable organizations, such as the Outagamie County and State Bar Associations, Lions Club, Elks Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Mink is serving as the City Chairman for the Wisconsin Heart Association for the second year. Al, as you know, is married to an Appleton girl and has three children. We firmly believe that Mr. Mink is the only candidate who has the experience, character, and ability to give our county the strong District Attorney that it needs. Your active help and cooperation is needed if we are to be successful.

Please phone, talk, and write your friends about Allan — NOW!

Thank you, Peter A. Ebben, Secretary LeRoy Jury, Chairman Peoples Committee for Allan L. Mink
